A Young Man in Rome
One Piece Missing
Farmer, Shock Absorbers
Happy Young Octopuses

—By Arthur Brisbane—

(Copyright, 1927, by Star Co.)

WHEN young Mr. Walker was presented to him in Rome, yesterday, the Pope told the mayor, "You are very young for Mayor of New York." Mayor Walker, who saw many beautiful and interesting things in his visit to the ancient palace of the Popes, was amazed at the brilliant uniforms of the papal guards, designed by Michelangelo four hundred years ago.

The young mayor was overwhelmed by the magnificent grandeur and beauty of Michelangelo's greatest work, the Church of St. Peter. If he had time it would interest him to examine in the Vatican library a letter from Michelangelo to the Pope under whose orders he worked, complaining that contractors were cheating with inferior materials. "Whereas," wrote Michelangelo, "your Holiness knows I get from this work nothing except the benefit to my soul."

President Coolidge starts home from the Black Hills, bringing souvenirs of all kinds, from gold nuggets to riding horses, from high-heeled cowboy boots to eight-gallon hats. One piece of luggage is missing that he took west with him, the prospect of a second presidential nomination in 1928.

Many express the opinion that President Coolidge will change his mind. They do not know him. When he says "I do not choose to run," that's definite. And millions of Americans regret it.

When the farmer has plenty of cotton he can't get any price for it. When he hasn't much cotton he gets a good price. This year's crop is estimated at 12,692,000 bales. A year ago the crop was 17,977,000 bales, and the cotton growers will get more for this year's 12,000,000 bales than they got last years for their 17,000,000 bales.

Mr. Garrett says truly that the ability of American industry to adjust itself to violent changes

Levine to Abandon Flight to U. S. for a Hop Eastward

London, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Charles A. Levine announced today that unless weather conditions improve by Monday he would abandon his proposed flight to the United States. If the Atlantic flight is abandoned, he added, he and Captain Walter Hinchcliffe, pilot, will start eastward "early next week to break the world's endurance and long distance record."

In his formal statement Levine said: "I don't share the opinion of persons who feel that legislation should be enacted against so-called stunt fliers."

BROCK AT SHANGHAI

Shanghai, Sept. 10 (I.N.S.).—Edward F. Schlee and William S. Brock American round-the-world fliers, arrived here in the Pride of Detroit at 5:21 o'clock this afternoon from Hong Kong, a distance of 780 miles. They hopped off at Hong Kong at 5:25 o'clock this morning.

They did not land at the Shanghai race course, as expected, owing to the shortness of the runway and the weight of fuel aboard the plane. They landed at the Hungjoa airdrome after circling overhead for an hour.

About 5,000 foreign residents and thousands of Chinese had gathered at the racecourse and there was deep disappointment when the plane failed to land there.

After being showered with congratulations, the American airmen were taken to a hotel where they bathed, dined and immediately thereafter went to bed, leaving word they would hop off for Tokio, 1,130 miles, at dawn Sunday.

CALL N. E. FREIGHT RATES ON BITUMINOUS LAWFUL

Washington, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Investigation into freight rates on coal moved another step forward today with a tentative report by two Interstate Commerce Commission examiners holding that rates on bituminous in car loads from Pennsylvania, Maryland and Northern West Virginia mines to destinations in New England and the middle Atlantic States for track delivery were not unreasonable or otherwise unlawful. The report, submitted by Irving L. Koch and W. J. Harris, has yet to be passed on by the commission.

GETS HER FIFTH DIVORCE; PLANS TO MARRY AGAIN

Sioux City, Sept. 10 (A.P.)—Five times married and five times divorced, Mrs. Flossie Lake, 21-year-old Sioux City woman, still believes in the institution of marriage. She got her fifth divorce yesterday, and then announced that she expected to marry again. She was married the first time when only twelve years old.

CYCLIST KILLED IN RACE WITH 3 OTHERS AS HE CRASHES AUTO

James Quinton, twenty-two, of No. 43 Lila avenue, Medford, was killed when an early morning motorcycle race along International highway, in Revere, ended in tragedy today. Quinton received injuries from which he died at Chelsea Memorial Hospital.

Crashing head-on into an automobile driven by Abraham Friedman of No. [illegible] Brunswick street, Roxbury, Quinton sustained internal injuries and his left leg was amputated.

Friedman kept in touch with Captain William E. Tappan of the Revere police by telephone after the accident, and on learning of Quinton's death announced he would go to the station and surrender. He will be charged with manslaughter and operating so as to endanger the lives and safety of others.

According to the police, Quinton, son of Alexander Quinton, well known Medford resident, participated with three other young men in a thrilling motorcycle race from Revere to Saugus.

Tearing along at tremendous speed, the motorcycle of young Quinton smashed into Friedman's machine at International Highway and Washington street, Revere.

The rider was thrown through the air by the impact of the collision, his motorcycle was demolished and his left leg was so severely torn it was amputated at the hospital, where he was taken by the Revere police.

The other cyclists, unaware of the accident, continued on toward Saugus, and are being sought by the police. The motorcycle operated by Quinton was borrowed from a Malden man.

MGR. TEELING ESTATE TO PUPILS AND CHARITY

Cardinal O'Connell is left the sum of $5,000 to be used to aid worthy students from St. Mary's Parish, Lynn, who desire to study for the priesthood, by the will of Rt. Rev. Mgr. Arthur J. Teeling of Lynn, filed for probate today in Salem.

Other public bequests include $1,000 each to the following:

Academy of Notre Dame, Roxbury; Sisters of Nazareth, Nazareth, Ky.; St. Vincent de Paul conference of St. Mary's Parish, Lynn, and $800 to each of the following: Home for Destitute Catholic Children, Boston; Little Sisters of the Poor, Somerville; House of Good Shepherd, Roxbury; Holy Ghost Hospital for Incurables, Cambridge; St. Mary's Infant Asylum and Maternity Hospital, Dorchester.

After bequests to relatives and friends the residue of the estate is left in trust for the support of the Catholic Central High School, if there be such in Lynn. If not, it is to be used for education of boy graduates of St. Mary's Grammar School in Boston College High School.

If for two successive years there are no boys availing themselves of this fund then the fund shall be set aside toward creating a Catholic central high school in Lynn.

CROWDS JAM BRIDGE AS POLICE DRAG CHARLES

The sight of police dragging the Charles River Basin today for a bag that they believe may contain evidence of a death mystery and which was thrown into the stream by one of three men in an automobile, caused such a traffic jam on Western avenue bridge that state motorcycle officers had to be sent to the scene.

Although Metropolitan District Police officers working from a boat dragged the river for hours they were unable to recover the object of their search because of the debris on the river bottom. Two grappling lines were broken in the work.

William Brown of No. 9 Telford street, Brighton, started the police hunt in the supposed death mystery. Brown told Patrolman Knox he had

REPORT ON OLD GLORY FALSE; HOPE DASHED

Halifax, N. S., Sept. 10 (I.N.S.).—Hope for the rescue of the Old Glory crew, which momentarily flared up last night through erroneous interpretation of a government message, was plunged downward again today with the official report again reading: "Still no word."

Considerable stir was created during the night when C. H. Harvey, agent of the Canadian Marine Department, reported that radio stations at Halifax had picked up a message indicating Old Glory had been found and that the government was ordering ships to her rescue.

The message read: "The airplane Old Glory was reported sighted 49.55 north, 40.39 west, approximately 400

SALEM BOY'S ILLNESS BAFFLES 17 DOCTORS

Baffling the many physicians a strange malady held Joseph Sawicki, seventeen year old Salem High School football player, unconscious for the sixth day of coma at the Maine General hospital in Portland today.

Though seventeen doctors, representing the best of New England's medical genius, have examined the youth, and studied his case from day to day, they admit themselves puzzled by the disease.

To add to the pathos of the case, the youth's mother is a patient in the same hospital, gradually weakening in her room which is immediately over her son's. Her condition was such today that her relatives feared she would die.

The boy was stricken unconscious after football practice last Sunday

BOSTON EXPORTER, IN LITHUANIA, IS HELD AS KILLER IN 'TRIANGLE'

Charged with murdering the chief of the medical corps of the army of Lithuania, who, he believed, stole the affections of his wife, John Roman, former U. S. Department of Justice agent and now president of the Lithuanian Sales Corporation of Boston, faces trial for his life in that north European country.

The slain man was Colonel Anthony Brundza, into whose body the American is alleged to have fired four bullets, while three other shots went wild. News of the killing and Roman's connection with it reached Boston today.

All Lithuania is aroused over the case and international complications may develop. The American consul is making a thorough investigation.

Roman is an American citizen, graduate of Boston College and of Harvard Business School, a wartime officer in the United States army and former Brockton newspaper man.

SENDS SON TO U. S.

His pretty wife, a former Lawrence girl, is the centre of the love triangle that ended with the shooting of Colonel Brundza on August 21 at Palanza, a summer resort on the Baltic Sea, where both the army officer and the Romans had villas.

Estranged from his wife and suffering extreme mental anguish because of letters he is said to have found, Roman placed his seven-year-old son aboard a ship bound for America and retired to his Summer estate to rest.

His wife had been absent from home a week at that time, the separation coming after Roman tore half a letter from her hands and charged her with having received it from the Lithuanian officer, a young unmarried man.

On the very day he saw his boy off

KIDNAPED TEACHER HUNT SWINGS TO HUB

New York State police and detectives are today checking up on vacation associations here and in Buzzards Bay in the hope of finding a clew that will explain the mysterious disappearance of Miss Jeanie McClure, Corning, N. Y., school teacher.

Miss McClure dropped from sight on August 30 while shopping in Johnson City, N. Y. Later a note came from Buffalo stating the young woman had been kidnaped and was held for ransom.

Despite the belief of Miss McClure's family she was kidnaped, New York police and detectives in Massachusetts are checking her associations during her two months' stay on Cape Cod and in Boston. The McClure family declare she had no suitor, close friends among young men, and for that reason they are sure she did not go away voluntarily.

Johnson City and vicinity, the former the home of her uncle, Duncan McClure, where Miss McClure and her mother were visiting at the time of her disappearance, have been combed by police without result. Today the New York authorities turned their attention to Massachusetts in the hope of striking a clew.

Miss McClure is 21 years old and teaches at the Courtland Free Academy.

'I WILL FLY TO PARIS!' INSISTS RUTH ELDER

Washington, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Steps to prevent long-distance flights over water by land planes are recommended in a report to the Navy Department by Lieutenant Ben H. Wyatt, who served on the committee which inspected the Dole flight planes before the takeoff from San Francisco. The report was characterized today as "sound" by Admiral Eberle, acting Secretary of the Navy.

"Flights of this nature, even when undertaken by the army or navy, must ultimately end in disaster," Hyatt said. "It is not my belief that any scientific value can be derived from such flights."

Tampa Fla., Sept. 10 (A.P.)—Ruth Elder, pretty 23-year-old Lakeland aviatrix, is determined to make an attempt to fly from New York to Paris.

"They shall not stop me," she declared here after bringing the Stinson-Detroiter monoplane "American Girl" to a landing on the Municipal Field ending a 1,100-mile hop from Detroit.

"Of course we shall not leave until the weather is favorable," she said. 'However, I am determined to be the first woman to fly across the Atlantic, and we shall leave New York soon as possible after Sept. 25."

Miss Elder was accompanied by George Halderman, Lakeland aviator, who will make the New York-Paris flight in the American Girl as co-pilot and navigator; O. H. Porter, aeronautical expert from the Stinson factory, and Ed Cornell of Lakeland.

FLOOD FOLLOWS PIPE 'BLAST'

Residents in the vicinity of Belvedere, Falmouth and West Newton streets early today were awakened by a blast in a water main running to a dead end pipe line which sent water flying fifteen feet in the air and a flood of several thousand gallons of water in the immediate vicinity.

It was the second water main explosion early today, one occuring near Commonwealth Pier. The cause of both blasts is undetermined.

None of the water got into any cellars of houses adjacent and the damage was not great. Some residents at first believed there had been an earthquake.

15 BALLOONS ARE READY FOR BENNETT CUP RACE

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 10 (I.N.S.).—Inflation of 15 giant balloons, which will race this afternoon for the Gordon Bennett trophy, began at Ford Airport early today. The race, which will be the 16th renewal of the international classic, was scheduled to start at 4 o'clock. The bags are each of 80,000 cubic feet gas capacity. Between 50,000 and 100,000 persons are expected to watch the contest.

WORLD FLIERS AT SHANGHAI

They have now passed the halfway mark of their long and hazardous journey.

Their schedule calls for Schlee and Brock to fly to San Francisco from Tokio, with two stops on islands in mid-Pacific. The first hop would take them to Sand Island, in the Midway coral group, 2,480 miles from Tokio, and the second to Honolulu, which lies 1,440 miles from Sand Island. From Honolulu to San Francisco is 2,400 miles.

Brock and Schlee to Quit at Tokio, Says Manager

Tokio, Sept. 10 (I.N.S.).—Efforts of J. V. Walker, representative in Japan for Edward F. Schlee and William Brock, round-the-world fliers, to charter a boat to carry the men and their plane, the Pride of Detroit, across the Pacific, were ineffectual today.

Walker said the flight would probably be abandoned at Tokio, because it would be impossible for Brock and Schlee to break the time record for circling the world without flying across the Pacific.

The Pride of Detroit is expected here from Shanghai Sunday afternoon.

HUB MAN HELD IN DEATH TRIAL

at the dock, Roman was sitting in the garden before his villa on the shore, when Colonel Brundza and a friend walked past. The Colonel was in uniform and armed, according to information reached in this country.

There are two versions of the shooting. One has it that Roman leaped to his feet, confronted the medical corps chief, and fired with little warning. The other version is that Colonel Brundza, alarmed, drew his gun, and that Roman consequently fired in self-defense.

Considerable agitation in Roman's favor has been going on since his arrest, as evidenced by editorials in Lithuanian newspapers, in which a defense based on the "unwritten law" and the sanctity of the home is suggested.

Mrs. Roman, who was formerly Miss Mary Osker of Lawrence, has dropped from sight since the tragedy. The boy, John R. Roman, was due to arrive in New York today. He will make his home with his father's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Roman of Warren street, Newton Centre.

The Romans have been married since 1918. They made annual trips to Boston and were well known in Brockton, where Roman and his parents formerly lived in Ames street.

Roman is 34 years old and last lived in Commonwealth avenue, Newton Centre. He was as prominent in the business life of Lithuania as Colonel Brundza was in military circles.

Going to Lithuania in 1919, as foreign resident director of the Boston exporting corporation, of which he is the president, he took part in the post-war economic reconstruction of the country and was made head of the government bank.

The Romans were last here in November of last year. Marital troubles are said to have begun shortly after their return to their Winter home in Kannas, Lithuania, reaching their climax in August, when Roman seized part of the letter his wife is said to have received.

Roman was a newspaper reporter in Brockton and a Department of Justice agent before the war, following his graduation from the Harvard Business School. He was commissioned a first lieutenant during the war, and in 1918 was married to Miss Osker at Lawrence. After hostilities ended he organized the Boston corporation for exporting automobiles and tractors to the newly-formed Lithuanian nation.

Roman is said to be a very close friend of President Smetona of Lithuania but so was Col. Brundza. As a result the case may have a reflection in internal politics there.

Mrs. Roman is described as a very popular young matron who liked social affairs and participated prominently in society functions.

SHOCK TO SISTER.

His sister, Mrs. Walter Hopkins, lives with her husband in the same house that Roman's parents occupy in Warren street, Newton Centre.

"The shooting is a terrible affair to all of us," said Mrs. Hopkins today. "My brother did not write us about it because, I suppose, he did not wish to worry us, but we learned about it through other sources.

"The last we heard from him was in August, when he sent his father a cablegram, telling us that he was placing his son aboard a boat. He said he wished his boy to go to school in this country because the primary schools where he was were not good enough.

"He did tell us in the same message that he and his wife had separated. It was the first we knew of trouble between them and we were terribly shocked, for they had been a devoted young couple.

PROUD OF BROTHER.

"My brother was very well educated and we were quite proud of him for his business associates considered him exceptionally brilliant. His career shows that.

"As far as we know, the story of the shooting is correct. My brother was sitting in his garden at the seashore when there was an argument between him and the army officer. The shooting occurred during the argument.

"I do not know what defense my brother will put up. We have received no call for help and believe he has enough funds and sufficient money to conduct his defense."

The elder Romans only recently moved from Brockton to Newton Centre, while Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins came from the West to join them. None of them have received any information as to the present whereabouts of the younger Mrs. Romans.

B. C. '18 Year Book Called Roman "The Gunman"

"The gunman" was the nickname applied in jest in Boston College class year book in 1918 to John J. Roman, who is accused of shooting an army colonel in Lithuania.

Roman took part in the dramatics, was a prominent college speaker and, according to the year book, lectured in public on the fallacies of Socialism.

"Other reasons for his success were his 'third eyebrow,' his ministerial tie and his very terrifying firearm," reads the page of the book, "Sub Turri," devoted to him. "Thus you see that the reasons for his fame were many; many more, we feel sure, will come in the years to come."

miles east-north-east of St. John's. All Canadian vessels in vicinity requested to render every assistance possible."

The message was immediately construed in many quarters as meaning that Old Glory had been found, was apparently safe, and that rescue measures were under way, but the Navy Department at Ottawa, when queried, replied that the message had been broadcast at the request of the United States embassy merely as an authorization to look for the lost fliers.

The positions given in the message were those where Old Glory was believed to have plunged into the pitching ocean.

Meanwhile the steamship Kyle, chartered by the New York Mirror of which Phillip Payne, one of the plane's crew, was managing editor, has set out with the specific mission of searching over Old Glory course.

Other trans-atlantic ships are continuing their lookout for the ill-fated plane or its crew, but are not deviating from the regular travel lanes.

Atlantic City, Sept. 10 (I.N.S.).—"Now I must rush home and take up my studies—you see I'm a junior in high school and certainly want to finish my course."

That's the "most beautiful girl in America" speaking.

Besieged with the prospects of various promoters, sixteen-year-old Lois Delander of Joliet, Ill., newly crowned "Miss America," was busy bundling up her trophies today to rush back to school.

Lois is somewhat alarmed over the possibility that she might already be late for school, and with the business of winning the annual Atlantic City beauty review disposed of, the big problem on hand was the immediate return to her "art course."

While the simplicity and charm, with which the judges found her amply equipped, might stand her in good stead for a movie or stage career, Miss Delander said this morning her sole inclination is "art."

BABSON GIVES HIS FORECAST FOR 1928

In manufacturing, the best outlook for 1928 is in Massachusetts and four other States—New York, Pennsylvania, Connecticut and Ohio—according to the annual business forecast of Roger W. Babson, famous statistician, made today at the opening of the 14th annual national business conference at Babso Park, Wellesley.

Other views of Mr. Babson are:

The immediate outlook for business is moderately good.

There is no panic in sight, while money rates remain "easy."

Total value of crops this Fall should be larger tha a year ago.

No labor disturbances are expected.

Good bonds should be bought and held.

Good stocks should be purchased on a long-growth basis, but present stock speculation is excessive and will suffer a reaction.

"A condition exists in the business world today that has never before existed since statistics have been available," said Mr. Babson.

"I refer to the fact that we are in a period of declining interest rates which heretofore have never been followed by a panic; and at the same time we are in a period of declining commodity prices which heretofore have never been followed by good times.

"The Fall seasonal increase in general industrial activity should cause employment and payroll trends to stiffen slightly. No industrial disturbances in any major industries are on the horizon.

WOMAN SEEKS TEETH AT BANK IN 'HOAX'

The perverted sense of humor of some person caused considerable confusion at a local bank, today, when a stream of men and women poured into the bank inquiring for articles which they had lost and advertised in Boston newspapers.

One woman inquired for a set of false teeth; a middle-aged man was seeking an umbrella. Two girls and one man sought pet dogs they had lost.

Each of the persons received a mysterious telephone call yesterday, saying "the property you advertised as lost has been found and has been turned over to the manager of a certain bank," naming the bank.

There is no manager at this bank and the first of the stream of callers was taken to the office of the vice-president. He soon discovered that the bank was being made the butt of a "practical joke." The police were notified and Inspector Timothy Donovan was assigned to the case.

Recently the City Hospital has been used in the same manner, persons being called almost daily and informed that members of the family had been seriously injured and were at the City Hospital. A stream of frantic fathers adn mothers have been rushing to the hospital only to find the reports false. One collapsed from shock on arriving at the hospital.

The police have undertaken to run down the so-called joker, although the authorities confess they are at a loss as to how to prosecute him should he be found.

STAR WITNESS IN CLINE CASE VANISHES

Rockville, Ct., Sept. 10 (I.N.S.).—The whereabouts of Mrs. Jane Helen Irwin, who suddenly left town when it became known she was to be the star witness against Leonard Cline, novelist, on trial as the slayer of Mrs. Irwin's husband, Wilfred, was a mystery today.

Mrs. Irwin appeared at the courthouse the second day of the trial, but was hustled away by State's Attorney Noone.

Mrs. Irwin, it was pointed out, was the last person to see both Irwin and Cline prior to the shooting in the Cline farmhouse at Mansfield on May 16 last. The State believes she will be able to supply the alleged motive.

The trial will be resumed Tuesday. Two jurors are yet to be obtained. A new panel of forty talesmen will report Tuesday morning.

3 FIREMEN HELD, CHARGED WITH SETTING A BLAZE

Two call firement from Onset and one from Buzzards Bay department were arraigned today in Falmouth court, charged with setting fire to a building and stores, property of Paul Miner, near the railroad station in Buzzards Bay, last Saturday morning.

The men are Alton McKenzie, twenty-four, driver of the apparatus at Buzzards Bay, and James Doyle, twenty-two, and John P. Lyons, twenty-three of Onset.

McKenzie pleaded guilty. The others waived examination and all were held in $1,00 0each for the October Grand Jury.

HUSBAND FACES NOOSE

Mrs. Leonard Cline in courtroom at Rockville, Ct., where her husband, the novelist, is on trial for slaying his friend, Wilfred Irwin. Ten jurors have been chosen and a new panel of 40 talesmen has been called to report Tuesday. It is expected Mrs. Irwin will be the State's star witness.

Miss Anna Morris Murray Is Bride of Theodore Spencer at Pomfret Today

THE BRIDE QUOTA FOR THE ENTIRE "THIRTY DAYS WHICH hath September" numbers none more attractive than Miss Anna Morris Murray, who today celebrates her marriage rites with Theodore Spencer of Philadelphia. Miss Murray and Mr. Spencer are having a country wedding at Pomfret, the pretty village in the Connecticut hills, where the T. Morris Murrays have their country home. The late afternoon ceremonial is in Christ Church and the reception is al fresco at "Gwyn-Careg."

FOR THE LOVELY MISS MURRAY THERE IS A PARISIAN expression of bridal beauty in old lace and lustrous satin, done by Chanel in the modern mode. For the lovely bride's picturesque bevy of attendants there are honey yellow frocks of crepe and fringe, and hats of yellow straw of a width to droop about piquant faces most becomingly. Mrs. Ross T. Whistler (Mary Vinton Murray) is honor matron, and Mrs. John Maude (Rosamond Murray), Miss Jean Sears, Miss Dorothy Winthrop and Mrs. Paul Birdsall (Helen Grew) are the bridesmaids, particularly interesting as coming from Boston's smart set.

LAST EVENING THE WEDDING PARTY TRIPPED THE LIGHT fantastic as guests of Dr. and Mrs. Frederic Grosvenor Goodridge, who are Summer folk in delightful Pomfret. Miss Ethel Goodridge, their daughter, is a bridesmaid. The daughters of Dr. and Mrs. T. Morris Murray have furnished bridal interest in three recent alliances within little more than a year's span. The Murray-Spencer wedding follows the Murray-Maude nuptials celebrated in London, and the Murray-Whistler marriage in Boston. They are great travelers, the Murray family, so that the Pomfret farm and the Marlborough street establishment are but intermittent stopping places between journeys.

BOTH SIR ESME HOWARD AND THE LADY ISABELLA HOWARD were radiant, at the conclusion of the Gala at Stillington. And well might they be, considering that the Gala, so brilliantly done, started off most brilliantly on its dollar garnering way, the American portion of contribution to the Shakespeare Theatre Foundation. Lady Isabella and His Excellency were of the group that walked across the terrace after the Gala, to be Leslie Buswell's guests at the after-play supper party he gave for Miss Barrymore and Rollo Peters.

LADY ISABELLA WORE SOME BEAUTIFUL PEARLS WITH HER simple evening gown done in black satin and tulle. Mrs. M. Graeme Haughton's jewels were principally ropes of perfectly matched pearls, adding lustre to her shell pink satin gown. Mr. George Eddy Warren topped her handsome frock with a wrap no less handsome. It was of heavy black satin done in a flower design of glinting gold sequins. The Warrens and the Haughtons were in the Buswell guest group.

MRS BRYCE J. ALLAN HAD HER GUESTS UP IN THE TINY balcony that clings to a high corner where Stillington's massive granite walls meet heavy old rafters. For the Gala, which Mr. Buswell considered a very special occasion indeed, he brought out from their chests two priceless family treasures—the British naval flags belonging once upon a time to a forebear—one Admiral Croft of His Majesty's navy. They flanked the stage on which Ethel Barrymore and Rollo Peters did the balcony scene; the American Opera singers sang Pagliacci so delightfully, and from which the amiable "Nick" Longworth made his mirth-provoking address.

A MATRIARCHAL FIGURE WAS MRS. HENRY LEE HIGGINSON, squired by her grandson of the same name. Young Mrs. Higginson, 2d, wore rose. Mrs. Gordon Abbott had guests for the Gala, and so had Mrs. Rodman Paul Snelling Mrs. Snelling wore black satin and pearls, and Mrs. Abbott a metal gown with effective costume jewelry to match. Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Nickerson Winslow, Jr., with Mrs. Nickerson in rose satin, were with the Sears Condits, making a family group. Mrs. Wallace Goodrich's rose gown and metal cloth wrap lent to the brilliant scene a rich bit of color.

BETWEEN THE ACTS MRS. A. LYNDE COCHRANE MET THE brisk breeze across the moon-drenched terrace with nothing more formidable than an enormously long ostrich scarf, uncurled, as wrap for her lacy frock. Mrs. Hendricks Hallet Whitman swathed her slender height in a gorgeous flame red satin gown. Mrs. Gerald Bramwell was in rose pink and a beautifully embroidered wrap. Mrs. Ralph Bradley's gown was green, and her wrap, the Mandarin sort, was done in rich Oriental colors by patient Oriental fingers. The Bradleys were in a family group including the Godfrey Lowell Cabots.

YOUNG PEOPLE IN THE FAMILIES OF SPONSORS UPHELD prestige with eclat. Miss Eloise Lawrence with her brother, Amory Lawrence, were on hand, and Miss Emily Coolidge with young Mr. Coolidge. Miss Rosamond Borland and Miss Jean Sears were a strikingly-clad duo in the ultra smart audience for the Gala. Exquisite pastel-tinted frocks, and wraps glittering in myriad metal colors, set off these two distinctive girls most effectively. Mrs. Joseph Leiter was handsome. But then, Mrs. Joseph Leiter is always stunning in her handsome costumes.

COOLIDGE PUTS IDEALS AHEAD OF LEARNING

Brookings, S. D., Sept. 10 (A.P.). —Journeying toward Washington from the Agricultural Northwest, President Coolidge stopped off in this city today to dedicate the Lincoln Memorial Library at the South Dakota State College with an address devoted almost wholly to education. The President swung the trend of his speech toward the spiritual value of education and a eulogy of the part played by Abraham Lincoln in this direction.

"We have been excessively busy seeking for information that could be turned to practical advantage in the matter of dollars and cents, rather than for that wisdom which would guide us through eternity," Mr. Coolidge said.

"This is by no means all that is to be expected from American education and American institutions. I cannot conceive that the object of Abraham Lincoln was merely to instruct men how to raise more corn, to feed more hogs, to get more money. Of course, he wanted to teach men to raise more corn, but his main object must have been to raise better men.

"All of our science and all of our arts will never be the means for the true advancement of our nation, will never remove us from the sphere of the superficial and the cynical, will never give us a civilization and a culture of any lasting importance unless we are able to see in them the outward manifestation of a spiritual reality.

A little black chow dog was speeding happily eastward with President and Mrs. Coolidge today. The chow was offered to Mrs. Coolidge by Lester Heinschimer of Sioux Falls, S. D., and she quickly accepted.

"MISS AMERICA" RUSHES BACK TO SCHOOL WORK

cessful artist," she said. "In school I am deeply interested in my art course and intend to follow it.

"Of course I'm happy. I'm thrilled to death. I really didn't dream of winning the title," she asserted.

"Miss America's" charm is her simplicity, coupled with golden-brown hair, which she arranges in a simple manner, and other attractions equally vital to "bathing beauties." Her hair is parted on one side and combed into soft coils across the back of her head.

Miss Delander took a three-vote margin to win the title when the judges balloted, 8 to 5, in her favor over Miss Mozelle Ransome, "Miss Dallas," the runner-up.

"Miss Dallas" and "Miss Joliet" had earlier eliminated the other finalists, "Miss Philadelphia," "Miss Tulsa" and "Miss Hammond," but not without considerable perplexity on the part of the judges.

2 STATES PROBE CHAINED BODY MYSTERY

The State of Rhode Island today began an investigation into the mysterious death of a middle-aged man believed to have been a resident of Lowell, whose body, with a chain around the neck and the skull crushed, was found off Block Island.

Lowell police are checking up on the theory the body may be that of Eugene T. Shaw of Appleton street, proprietor of a millinery store in Central street, who disappeared six weeks ago.

Shaw took over the millinery when his wife became ill, and it was said he underwent financial difficulties. When he dropped from sight inquirers were directed to Attorney Charles H. McIntyre.

The theory the body might be that of Shaw was given credence in Lowell because two spectacle cases, bearing names of Lowell optometrists, were in a pocket.

Attorney McIntyre pointed out that Shaw was seventy-two, while the body was reported to be that of a man about fifty.

Practically all the flesh had been stripped from the torso, the skull was completely bare, and the clothing was so tattered it was impossible to determine the materials from which it was made.

The body, which from indications had been in the water for a month, was found by the crew of the yacht Tooroc, owned by C. O. Root of Weekapaug, R. I., and was taken to a Block Island undertaking establishment.

Dr. Perry, medical examiner, declared the man had been a victim of foul play, and notified the Rhode Island attorney general.

BRIAND STIRS LEAGUE WITH PEACE PLEA

Geneva, Switzerland, Sept. 10 (A. P.).—For the second time in 48 hours Aristide Briand, French Foreign Minister, today delivered an impassioned peace oration which moved his hearers to a depth of emotion rarely seen in public assemblages.

Yesterday men cheered and women bombarded M. Briand with flowers when he had declared that "the word 'peace' will triumph throughout the ages." Today some of his auditors wept as, speaking before the assembly of the League of Nations, he proclaimed France's passionate desire to be freed from the horrors of war.

The famous French statesman was on the verge of tears as he leaned forward and touched his great audience with the declaration that France "had been nailed to the bloody cross of a war that she has no desire to see repeated."

Today's address was not only a plea for peace and a defense of the League of Nations, but it extended the hand of friendship to Germany.

France Asks Soviet to Recall Its Ambassador

Paris, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—The Havas agency correspondent at Rambouillet has reported that at a meeting of French council ministers, presided over by President Doumergue, it was agreed it would be advisable for the Soviet government to be informed that Ambassador Christian, Rakovsky should be recalled to Moscow. The discussion is the result of Rakovsky signing a document appealing to the proletariat to overthrow all bourgeoise government and calling upon soldiery to refuse to obey officers.

When Whistle Blows "Quit," It's Not Safe to Be Around!

Terryville, Ct., Sept. 10 (A.P.). —Leon Kasper, twenty, had the bad luck to be standing just inside the gates at the Eagle Lock Company's plant when the 6 o'clock whistle blew last night, and today he is nursing three broken ribs as the result of it.

Kasper was knocked down and trampled on as the workmen burst out the gates and when the last feet had walked on him he was picked up in an unconscious condition and rushed to the office of Dr. Harold B. Woodward. It developed later that it was his first day at the factory and he had not become acclimated.

92 MORE CASES OF PARALYSIS THIS WEEK

Ninety-two cases of infantile paralysis were reported to the State Department of Public Health for the week ending today, the largest number for any week since the increased prevalence of the disease for the year.

The total number of cases for the year amounts to 339, as against but 147 for the same date a year ago, and 245 cases for the entire year 1926.

One Death and Three More Cases Reported

Haverhill, Sept. 10.—One death and three additional cases of infantile paralysis were reported in this city today, bringing the total since July 27 to forty-three cases, of which eight have been fatalities.

The death was that of Robert Hudson, five years, who died in the Haverhill Contagious Hospital. The child lived with his parents on Merrimac court. The other cases reported were all in one family, being Lois, Lloyd and Lillian Bernard two, five and ten years, of No. 76 Rosemont street.

TWO LINERS DUE SOON WITH MANY TOURISTS

Scores of returning American tourists are due to land at Boston in the next two days, according to wireless messages received today from two steamships nearing the western shores of the Atlantic.

The Cunard liner, Samaria, from Liverpool and Queenstown, with a big group of tourists, is due tomorrow. Among those on board are President Daniel L. Marsh of Boston University and Mrs. Marsh.

With nearly 100 passengers on board, the Hamburg American liner, Westphalia, is expected to dock at Commonwealth Pier on Monday. She was due tomorrow, but was delayed by heavy weather.

AUGUST PASSES ALL RECORDS IN BUILDING

Building Commissioner Louis K. Rourke announced today that August established a building construction record for the last five years. He believes the year will close with a volume of new construction exceeding that of last year. During the first eight months of 1926 the total amount of construction was $38,649,824; to date this year the total is $37,037,804.

WILSON RETRACTS ON ALL "MEAN" RAPS AT MELLON

Spokane, Wash., Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Clarence True Wilson, secretary of the Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals of the Methodist Church, has withdrawn his criticism of Secretary Mellon's recent appointments in the prohibition enforcement department.

"I want to take back all the mean things I have said about Secretary of the Treasury Andrew Mellon since his appointment of Lowman as Assistant Secretary of the Treasury and Doran as prohibition commissioner," the Methodist leader declared here in an address at a church conference.

"If Secretary Mellon had searched all over the United States and consulted with leaders of prohibition he could not have made better selections for carrying out the Volstead Act and the provisions of the Eighteenth Amendment."

LIFE OF THOMAS A. EDISON

(Authorized by Mr. Edison)

Text by Arthur J. Palmer
Drawings by Frank Kuchenmeister

Edison went West in 1878 for a vacation. He was staying in a Wyoming town when "Texas Jack," an inebriated two-gun man, insisted on visiting him. "Jack" demonstrated his marksmanship by firing through an open window at a sign. Finally, Edison induced him to leave.

Edison and his roommate, Fox, a newspaper man, had brought rifles along to hunt jack-rabbits. The telegraph operator told them where they would find "jacks," and soon after Edison spied one near the station. Carefully stalking, he fired. The rabbit did not move an inch.

Somewhat puzzled, the inventor-tenderfoot crept closer. At ten feet he fired again, with the same result as before. Becoming suspicious, he walked up to his game, only to find that it was stuffed. Feeling foolish, he turned around to be met by loud guffaws from the station.

On a hunting trip into the Ute country, Edison was permitted to ride on the cow-catcher. One day the locomotive hit an animal about the size of a cub bear. Hurled upward, it struck just under the headlight. Edison ducked and probably saved his life. (Continued Monday)

PERSHING SAILS WITH 1,700 IN NEW 'A. E. F.'

New York, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Wartime memories were revived today on the steamship Leviathan, pride of the American merchant marine, which after seizure from Germany during the war helped transport 2,000,000 young Americans to France to fight.

Seventeen hundred "doughboys" of ten years ago, bound for the American Legion convention in Paris, enjoyed palatial accommodations aboard ship in contrast to their crowded quarters in 1917-18 when 10,000 men swarmed the vessel on each trip.

Arrangments were made to have the dirigible Los Angeles, a government souvenir of the war, circle over the ship as it sailed down the bay, while a convoy of six destroyers were waiting off Ambrose Channel lightship to pick up the giant liner and escort her until sunset tonight.

Sailing today also was their wartime chief, General John J. Pershing, who declared he had the same faith in the Legionnaires' conduct in France as he had in them when, as soldiers, he sent them into battle.

With the arrival of the Leviathan the flagship of the "second A. E. F." and ships sailing from other ports, the total Legionnaires in Paris for the convention is expected to reach 2,000. There are now 8,000 Legion men in Europe and 12,000 more on the high seas and 7,000 ready to sail. The convention opens September 19.

HUB LETTER CARRIER IS HELD AS EMBEZZLER

William F. Fuller, twenty-two, of Cedar street, Roxbury, was arrested today by Postoffice Inspectors John Hunt and James Sullivan, charged with embezzlement of postoffice funds. The arrest followed a series of shortages at the Burlington avenue station, where Fuller has been employed for four years as letter carrier. Inspectors said the shortages extended over a period of two years.

According to Hunt, Fuller admitted the shortages, claiming he collected on C. O. D. packages unknown to the authorities and failed to turn in the money. He was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Jenney on a specific charge, citing the theft of $65.21 and released in $2,000 bail, pending Grand Jury action.

DR. SULLIVAN'S LAST SUNDAY AT ST. PAUL'S

Tomorrow will be Dr. Edward F. Sullivan's last Sunday at St. Paul's Cathedral for this season. In response to requests he will repeat two sermons that were preached earlier in the Summer. At the morning service, at 11, he will preach on "The Vice of Hoarding Ourselves—And Its Cure."

At the evening service, at 7:30, his subject will be "The Malady and Remedy of the Drooping Spirit."

At the morning service the choir will sing "O Rest in the Lord" (Mendelssohn), with violin obligato; and "Cherubim Song" (Rachmaninoff). At the evening service, Miss Serra (violin) will play Gounod's "Sanctus" and Grieg's "Ave Maria."

BABY SAVES AUTOIST FROM SPEEDING FINE

Brockton, Sept. 10.—Just as Philip Darche of Charles street, Whitman, was about to be sentenced for automobile speeding in district court today, Officer R. Lloyd Carle, who made the arrest, asked permission to say a word. "Your Honor," began Carle, "I have since learned that the defendant had a possible just cause for his hurry. His wife had just presented him with a baby son and he was on his way to the hospital."

Judge King's face broke into a smile.

"I think we will place the case on file," he said.

LEGION RAISES FUND FOR FRENCH SOLDIERS

Acting Adjutant Edmund Gross of the Massachusetts department, American Legion, today cabled 14,127 francs as a contribution from the local department to a fund for the disabled poilus in L'Hospital des Invalides, Paris. Congressman A. Piatt Andrew, chairman of the committee in charge of the work, expects to raise about $2,000 among the Massachusetts delegates to the Paris convention. The proceeds will be used to purchase a gift for the disabled French soldiers.

BOSTON SOCIETY AT POMFRET WEDDING

Numerous Boston society folk were present at Pomfret, Ct., today when Miss Anna Morris Murray, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. T. Morris Murray, of No. 21 Marlboro street, and "Gwyn Careg Farm," Pomfret, was married to Theodore Spencer, son of Mrs. Theodore Spencer of Philadelphia. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. F. H. Bigelow, rector of Christ Church, Pomfret, assisted by Rev. Daniel R. Magruder of Hingham.

Flying Bus Next Year for Commuters to New York

New York, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Commuting by airplane from suburban homes to Manhattan offices, hitherto confined to theory and conjecture of whimsical humorist, will become actual next Spring, it was learned today from the Fairchild Aviation Corporation of Farmingdale, L. I., which is building "commuting expresses" at the rate of one a week. The company has received a dozen orders from business men.

The company is producing a new type of passenger amphibian, capable of carrying six persons, and which will sell for $15,000.

The commuter will be able to smoke and have his breakfast cooked and served for him in the specially-enclosed cabin of the aerial "bus," according to plans.

"American" Model Home Nearing Completion

EXPERIMENTAL HOME OPEN FOR INSPECTION DURING FINAL STAGES

Waltham Six-Room Dutch Colonial Home Being Built to Demonstrate Durability, Quality and Economy Possible for Less Than $10,000

MANY houses of many kinds to suit many minds seem to be the motif inspiring the many builders of homes who depend for their success upon the appeal which their structures have to the home seeking public, and still, regardless of thousands of different designs, the Dutch Colonial seems to be the overwhelming choice of home builders and buyers over any other single type.

Recognizing this fact, the Boston American Homebuilders Bureau, in collaboration with the Arthur H. Whitcomb organization of Waltham, started some weeks ago with the construction of a six room Dutch Colonial house which would include just as many of the features demanded by home buyers as possible. At the same time it was planned to keep the costs of this house so low that upon completion the statement might be made that this represents the last word in quality and economy possible in a Dutch Colonial of this size.

The Whitcomb company, who were selected to complete this contract, have a record of thirty-five years of successful building and will apply this tremendous knowledge gained over a third of a century to the fulfillment of the desired specifications of this Warrendale Experimental Home.

Selection of materials and concerns supplying such was made with the final object in mind of outstanding durability and closest economy consistent with high standard. High grade lumber, both exterior and interior, an extra fine grade of shingle, standard flooring, excellent plaster and paper, concrete block foundation, each item of construction must meet with the most careful scrutiny of the builders. In speaking of these features Mr. Arthur L. Whitcomb, Jr., says:

"I feel that we have made a particularly fine choice of sub-contractors and material men, for we have been doing business with many of these concerns for several years and can recommend them without exception to meet any fair requirement with an unusual degree of merit. Their materials have been uniformly excellent and are backed up with a service that has been very satisfactory."

During the process of construction the Model Home will be open at all times to inspection and prospective home builders will find many hints and helps which will doubtless prove invaluable when they start the construction of their own homes. On the Warrendale property several unusual types of five, six and seven room houses, some completed, and some rapidly nearing completion, are open to visitors daily.

When the Boston American Home is completed, which will be about October 20th, it will be completely furnished and equipped to show visitors just how a model home perfectly furnished will appear.

A living room, dining room, kitchen, three bedrooms and a splendid piazza, all of very good size, complete the room schedule of this home, and four closets, two kitchen cabinets, china closet, large bath, make the house a model of convenience and utility.

The living room and dining room are finished in finely grained gumwood, the bath finished with real tile, hardware and fixtures will demonstrate the best available, and both plumbing and lighting fixtures will be of the highest class standard design and quality. The workmanship of all details of this house will be worthy of particular inspection, for the standards demanded by the Whitcomb Company have done much to account for the firm's success.

The story of the Warrendale Model Home construction will be continued from week to week in these pages and will lead to the important announcement of the opening, at which time the general public will be invited, without obligation, to attend on any day or Sunday a one month's open house.

A representative will be at this house all day Saturday and Sunday.

Inspection of Homes Allowed During Building

Although the Warrendale Home will not be completed and furnished until about October 20th, prospective home builders and home buyers may inspect this house and a group of several model homes on Brigham Road, Waltham, at any time.

Warrendale is a restricted district of single family homes situated just off the Boston Post Road, five mintes from Watertown Square, opp. Waltham Country Club.

MYSTERIES OF FINANCING NO LONGER TROUBLESOME

Terms and Methods Simplified by Cooperative Banks Who Now Make Due Allowance for Character and Enable Almost Everybody to Own Own Home

THE old saying that "we may have anything we wish in this world if we pay the price," was aptly illustrated some years ago when many men and women paid a very great price in the fulfillment of their wish to own their own homes. They labored through a maze of financial mysteries, paid very large interest charges and fees and yet reached their goal of home ownership. As we cheer their courage, we should be the more impressed with the ease by which that same goal may be attained today.

Co-operative banks are today making liberal allowance for character and stability of homebuilders in addition to the security of property on which loans are made.

The advantages of financing through the co-operative bank system are many. Some of the reasons for tremendous public faith are:

1—Co-operative banks limited solely to loaning money on homes have come to represent the greatest body of home specialists in the community.

2—The borrower or home builder, both before, during and after his ownership is in closest touch with a local building specialist.

3—The entire financial arrangement is organized and completed with one company.

4—Payments on the loan are consistent and regular with the attainment of the definite goal at a definite time.

5—Provisions are made for illness and trouble.

6—Money paid in on shares may be reborrowed in emergency.

7—A larger amount, meaning a smaller initial deposit, may be borrowed through co-operative banks with a most reasonable interest rate.

The co-operative bank plan, in the case of an $8,500 home (probably divided into a $7,000 house, a $1,000 plot of land and a $500 garage), would operate as follows:

The buyer or owner would pay 20 per cent. or $1,700 in cash and the bank would make a loan of approximately 80 per cent. or $6,800. Shares for this amount would be taken out by the buyer. Co-operative bank shares are in reality notes, or agreements to pay, and for convenience are standardized at $200 each on which $1 a month must be paid. Thus on a loan of $6,800, thirty-four shares or thirty-four notes for $200 are signed on each of which $1 per month be paid

Interest at 6 per cent. must be paid each year which on $6,800 would amount to [illegible]08 each year.

Taxes would be approximately $150, insurance about $10.50 and water rates about $9 each year.

Interest taxes, insurance and water would thus total about $577.50 each year or $48.10 each month.

To this would be added each month $1 on each note or share, thirty-four in all, which would make the total cost to the home buyer $82.10 each month.

These notes or shares of $200 each, payable $1 each month would of course take 200 months or sixteen and two-thirds years to pay, but co-operative banks pay interest from five to six per cent. on each dollar paid in and this interest added to the payments so multiply that the entire loan is paid in and buyer assumes complete ownership in about eleven and one-half years.

You are invited to write to Warrendale Home Editor, Boston American, No. Winthrop Square, Boston, Mass., for advice and help on solving your home financing plans.

STAGE AND SCREEN

Must Make Her Seagoing.

As Elsie Wagstaff, the English actress at the Copley, remarks, "It doesn't matter so much where you are born if you escape the consequences. I might have been a sailor, if signs count for anything, for I was born on board a ship in Sydney, Australia.

Take Notice, Manhattan.

At the close of a performance of "Broadway" at the Plymouth, a well dressed woman arose from her seat in the balcony and turned to her friend. "I don't know what you think about it, m'dear, but this show's going to be a knockout when it reaches New York."

TRIPLE INVASION OF NEW PLAYS MAKES FULL LIST FOR THE DOWNTOWN DRAMA

DOOLEY OBSERVED is Martha Morton when she and Gordon Dooley participate in this arrested development of the action in "Honeymoon Lane" at the Tremont. Such posturing! And a street car nowhere in sight. Must be a very merry entertainment.

LORO SANDERSON will be found Monday night at the Majestic in "My Golden West," an operetta wherein the cowboys and bad men become sweetly vocal. Think of that!

A BONNIE PAIR are William Frawley and Frances White, chief mirthmakers in that laughable affair, "Bye, Bye, Bonnie" now at the Wilbur.

LITTLE MARY JANE of "The Merry Malones" goes into her dance at the Colonial with the non-stop zest of Mr. Perpetual Motion himself.

GETS THE STRAW VOTE. Eleanor Williams, in a grass skirt, is all for Walter Huston in this popularity contest which is staged sometime during "The Barker", drama of tent show life coming Monday to the Hollis.

BATTLE OF TITLES NOW SUBSIDES

By NICHOLAS YOUNG.

THE domestic problems of the theatre are not, by any means, confined to the bedroom farces so adroitly manipulated by Al Woods—no, indeed. Based purely upon events of the past week the well known and equally dreaded "tanglefoot" may, at any moment, draw victims from earnest producers and drive confusion into the heart of the virtuous, well intentioned playgoer. Anyway, the week has turned up as pretty a typographical contest in the titling of plays as you may expect to find in the next ten years—possibly in a life time. For, between "My Golden Girl" at the Shubert and "My Golden West," arriving Monday at the Majestic, interested spectators and harried compositors have been tumbled into feverish bewilderment.

THE solution has been partly—probably wholly—settled by Alfred E. Aarons, who has withdrawn the title of "My Golden Girl" and turned back to "My Princess" for his interesting and pretentious musical affair at the Shubert. Mr. Aarons may possibly feel that his tender toes were heavily trod upon by the producers of "My Golden West" when that title, at a late hour, was bestowed upon the well exploited "Bonita," a new musical play based upon that spirited drama of the Southwest, "Arizona." For the relief of both the tortured compositor, writer and playgoer, Mr. Aarons' decision to go back to the original title of his production, "My Princess," much gratification may be expected by the toiling workers in press departments and composing rooms, who will not now be pressed to such painful vigilance as that imposed during the five days contest between "My Golden Girl" and "My Golden West."

IF priority counted in theatre as it does in well-established business institutions, the moral advantages of these mixed titles would belong to Mr. Aarons, though even he has displayed a willingness to swap names while moving on the by-ways of New England. However, it is pleasant to note that the striving for a gilded title is taken as so little in importance by Mr. Aarons that "My Golden Girl" easily becomes "My Princess" by the simple twist of the press agent's typewriter. In the meantime, "My Golden West" holds the fort at the Majestic.

IF there is any single item in George M. Cohan's long list of personal performances that arrests attention it is the facility with which he, always in good faith, retires from active, artistic participation with the theatre and the marvelous infacility with which he sticks to his own professed intentions. As it turns out the theatregoer is the winner, for any Cohan show with Mr. Cohan in the cast always carries that "something" with which popular fancy may be captured. The tragic circumstances which forced Mr. Cohan into "The Merry Malones" at the Colonial are to be regretted, but his appearance therein surely brings added interest to the entertainment.

NO SPEAK EASY!

HOW TO GET AN EDUCATION. In "The Big Parade" at Loew's State, John Gilbert is willing to study hard on his French while Renee Adoree is near. Let this be an object lesson to all ambitious little boys.

High Society

EVELYN DARVILLE plays the rich society girl in the music play, "My Princess" (Shubert).

'YANKEE' BOY AT ST. JAMES

Day Manson, "juvenile" of the stock company at the St. James, is so glad to be back in Boston that he is perfectly willing not to go with the American Legion on its trip to France.

Manson is a modest chap who never tells about his war experiences, but the popular juvenile served 14 months overseas with the YD.

He had planned to go to France with the other members of the Legion, but when confronted with a contract to play with the K-A company all season, he couldn't resist the temptation.

Being a graduate of Harvard and with a wide circle of friends here it was impossible for him not to join the K-A players.

SUNDAY SHOW

The first Sunday concert at the St. James will be given tomorrow. Eight vaudeville acts and feature photoplays will make up the program. A comedy film and a newsreel will be included for good measure.

REMAINING

"My Princess" (formerly "My Golden Girl") at the Shubert. (Second week.) It may be said that the new title adjusts itself nicely to the piquant charms and rich talents of Hope Hampton.

* * *

"The Merry Malones" at the Colonial. (Second week.) George M. Cohan's most impressive gesture in musical revue. He acts in it, too.

"Broadway" at the Plymouth. (Second week.) A sizzling chapter of gay night life in the Roaring Forties. It's bound to get you.

"Bye, Bye, Bonnie" at the Wilbur. (Sixth week.) Fritzi Scheff and Frances White combine high notes with frisky frollicking. The last week.

NEXT WEEK'S NEW BILLS

HOLLIS—Walter Huston in "The Barker," a drama of carnival life by Kenyon Nicholson. Much stress is laid upon the fact that this is the original New York company, without exception. In the supporting cast with Mr. Huston are Claudette Colbert, Norman Foster, Eleanor Williams, George Barker, Al Roberts, John Irwin, Jessie Graham, Gertrude Wixler, Mae Hopkins and Joseph O'Connell. Produced by Charles L. Wagner.

* * *

TREMONT—Eddie Dowling in "Honeymoon Lane," a musical comedy with Irish-American atmosphere. Book and lyrics by Mr. Dowling; music by James Hanley; dances by Bobby Connolly. In the supporting cast are Gordon Dooley, Martha Morton, Bobbie Perkins, Esther Muir, Mlle. Florentine Gosnova, Al Sexton, Leo Beers, Worthe Faulkner and D. J. Sullivan. Staged by Edgar MacGregor. Produced by A. L. Erlanger.

MAJESTIC—"My Golden West," a musical play founded on Augustus Thomas's "Arizona," a stirring play of the Southwest of more than a generation ago. Music by Sigmund Romberg; book by Edward Locke; lyrics by Harry B. Smith. In the cast are Berna Deane, John Barker, Lora Sonderson, Joseph Macaulay, William L. Thorne, Alice Fisher and Jane Egbert. A chorus of 100 will typify the soldiers, cowboys and Mexicans of earlier days. Produced by the Shuberts in association with L. Lawrence Weber.

* * *

ST. JAMES—(Stock). "Cradle Snatchers," a farce by Russell Medcraft and Norma Mitchell. A domestic conflict between wives who stay at home and husbands who burn nocturnal oil in night clubs. Presented here last season at the Hollis at down town prices. In the cast are Ruth King, Flora Maud Gade, Edithe Speare, J. Glynn McFarlane, Frank Charlton, Day Manson and Charles Schofield. Staged by Charles Schofield.

* * *

COPLEY—"Murray Hill," a comedy by Leslie Howard. Return engagement of a spirited affair which only a week ago brought a prosperous engagement to an end with many expressed regrets. An open week gives Mr. Clive an opportunity to again place his ardent actors in familiar roles they had but just deserted.

MACAULAY 'IN CHARACTER'

In the parlance of the West, a Mexican is called a "greaser," and is rated rather low in the social scale. But all Mexicans from south of the line are not "greasers," nor are they of low mentality either. Many of them have the blood of the Conquisadors of ancient Spain flowing in their veins. Those who attend the Majestic next week, where "My Golden West," the new musical play founded on Augustus Thomas' drama of the Western desert, "Arizona," holds forth, will see the Mexican character typified in its most romantic form by the Joseph Macaulay, who has the role of Tony, "bes' dam Vaquero on the ranch."

Macaulay spent a good part of his early life in California and played his first engagement in San Francisco. In the great open spaces he has been a Jack-of-all-trades and is handy in several forms of athletics. He has played semi-professional baseball and has actually worked on Wyoming ranches, where his skill as a rider was utilized in the "busting of the bronchos."

Macaulay has appeared in several motion pictures playing the part of a cowboy, but as a rule during the last several years he has been seen in big musical offerings.

Annual Topsfield Fair Begins Next Week

The 106th annual Topsfield Fair at Topsfield, Mass., on the Newburyport turnpike, will open on the afternoon of September 14th under the auspices of the Essex Agricultural Society of Essex county and continue into the evening of Saturday, September 17th.

Included in the list are exhibits by public school children of Essex county, including entries from all of the large cities and many towns.

Looking Ahead

SEPTEMBER 19—
- "After Dark," a mystery play, at the Copley.
- "The Firebrand" at the St. James.
- "What a Man!" at the Wilbur

OCTOBER 10—
- "Crime" at the Wilbur.

BRIDES BUSIER IN RESTIVE FILMS

By LEO GAFFNEY.

IN the bright lexicon of the movie title-writer there is a five-letter word called "bride." To apply it to as many productions as the tightest stretches of poetic license will permit is a favorite game in this earnest profession. There are other words too, of equally coy nomenclature, words that are always archly hinted at, never boldly spelled out; of which, more anon.

WITH an almost mechanical regularity some kind of bride turns up weekly with the new films. The supply never runs down, the file never falters. To list the assortment would be monotony that must surely induce coma. A fractional enumeration suffices. We have had "The Bride's Awakening," "The Bride of Fear," "The Bride of Hate," "The Bride's Confession," "The Night Bride" and now—the bride of the week—"The Stolen Bride" clamoring for your notice at the Olympia. To perpetuate this "Bride" series is going to be a job for heroes. Let's give these noble boys a cheer!

ANOTHER thrilling example of love's labor for the cinema's art is this arresting inscription over the new photoplay at the Modern and Beacon, "Singed," with an underline explaining—somewhat hastily it seems—that it is all about "a woman with a past." A check-up on about 8,000 film titles since 1915 discloses the same woman, never without her precious "past," still seeing service as unflinchingly as the industrious "Bride" above. Ah, well, nothing like old friends!

* * *

JUST to sweeten up his labors the busy titlist will often refresh himself by turning out something brisk, breezy, with a touch of swank as it were—if swank there be in the nature of the star he exploits. A fresh sample of this is found today at the Metropolitan in the announcement, "Bebe Daniels in 'Swim, Girl, Swim.'" Yes, sir, the aquatic drama is holding up in fine shape, as they say, even though Mack Sennett did use beach sand for the foundation.

* * *

THE caprices of the craft bring many moods upon the film's descriptive genius. His calmest moments are, possibly, when a popular novel or stage play is being produced. Then he will use the original title, in many cases, and ride it right through with glorious results. And glorious results are, after all, just what the title-writer is struggling for. To attain them he can use all "The Covered Wagons," "The Big Parades" and "The Way Down Easts" in the category. But these, the great photoplays, have never contained any titular mention of the experts' favored standbys!

AS affairs of supreme triumph are occasionally vouchsafed the fortunate, even the film titlist must have his day. See him in that exalted moment when, flushed with pardonable pride, he turns to the world to say, "Ladies and gentlemen, the joy of rebellion is upon me. Today I care not for 'brides' or 'pasts' or any old chestnut I ever relied upon, for I have discovered the perfect word for a title. Long suffering film fans, I give you 'Variety!'" Treasonable utterances such as this having never before been heard in filmland, the offender is punished by the keen satisfaction of seeing his "Variety" voted the biggest hit of last season. Viva variety!

DON'T CROSS HIM NOW!

THIS BOY MEANS BUSINESS, you can tell by his hat. To make sure, watch Jason Robards clutch Virginia Browne Faire in "Tracked By The Police" at the Modern and Beacon.

Well, Let's Have Another. "I tried to knock off liquor once," says Lieutenant Denton in "My Golden West" at the Majestic, "and it was a pull. Used to say to myself, 'I'll bet I won't drink this,' even while I was pouring it out. Finally got so I'd bet I hadn't drunk it, after I had."

STAGE AND SCREEN

Tries to Keep Up With Art. Hope Hampton of "My Golden Girl" is very fond and proud of a tiny monkey listed as a member of the cast. "It goes to prove," she asserts, "that while you can't make a monkey out of a good actor, you can always make an actor out of a good monkey."

TRIALS AND TRIUMPHS OF FILM FOLK SEEN IN THE WEEKLY RE-INFORCEMENTS

"WILL IT RAIN, MISTER?" queries Bebe Daniels, observing that William Austin is all set for a Nor'easter. The voluble answer to this is "Swim, Girl, Swim" at the Metropolitan.

"HAVE YOU BEEN DRINKING?" asks Betty Compson of Kenneth Harlan in "Cheating Cheaters" at the Boston. "Perhaps," he answers, "but now you quite take my breath away."

CRAZY OVER HORSES. The seats of the mighty are never held permanently. The great ones topple and finally go "The Way of All Flesh." The remarkable performances of Emil Jannings and Phyllis Haver, at the Scollay, will convince you that the films are not all fun and fiddlesticks.

ARMED INTERFERENCE saves the day for "The Stolen Bride" at the Olympia. Armand Kaliz and Billie Dove get busy to show you how it is done.

WHAT, NO SPINACH! Strange, but so it is in "Alias the Lone Wolf" (Orpheum) wherein Bert Lytell finds Lois Wilson so stimulating he has a hangover.

MOUNTEBANK PRACTICES IN 'BARKER'

There may still be gypsies wandering about the country in their gaily painted wagons, telling fortunes, trading horses and robbing an occasional hen roost, but for the most part they belong to another age. The byways and hamlets, however, are not without their amusements, for upon them each Summer descend innumerable tent shows and carnivals who raise their tents and stands, collect a few dollars and then disappear until the next Summer.

"The Barker," at the Hollis, Monday, is an epic of one of these troupes which form such an important link in the social life of the rural sections. Into this play Kenyon Nicholson has condensed many of the experiences he gained while traveling in company with such a group.

Noah Webster has defined "Carnival" as "a festival celebrated with merriment and revelry in Roman Catholic countries during the week before Lent." To the American showman a carnival is something else. It is a privately owned combination of attractions, a sort of portable Coney Island, which travels up and down the country peddling doubtful pleasure to the suburbanite.

Among the more interesting aspects of the carnival are the methods employed by the various shows in drumming up trade. This beating up of a crowd is known as "ballying." Walter Huston, in his checked suit, husky voice and persuasive manner in "The Barker," is a graphic example of the methods employed to catch customers.

Lynne Overman Comes in New Woods Farce

Lynne Overman

Lynne Overman, who is so well known and so much admired by Boston theatregoers, will come to the Wilbur on Monday evening, Sept. 19, as the featured player of A. H. Woods' newest farce, "What a Man!" Mr. Overman's most recent appearances here were with "Just Married," during its long run in the Plymouth, and in "No, No, Nanette," at the Tremont.

In his present role Overman plays a French hair-dresser, who has lost all recollection of the past through a war injury. He calls to dress his former wife's hair, and as she has again married, he is placed in many embarrassing predicaments.

DANCE BOAT

The harbor dance boat Mayflower will sail hereafter on six nights a week from Rowes Wharf. "The floating ballroom" is becoming more popular as the season advances

Film Futures

SEPTEMBER 17—"Tell It To Sweeney," with George Bancroft and Chester Conklin, at the Metropolitan.

SEPTEMBER 18—Reginald Denny in "Out All Night" at the New Boston. Ben Lyon and Claudette Colbert in "For the Love of Mike" at the Washington Street Olympia.

SEPTEMBER 19—Lon Chaney in "Mockery" at Loew's State.

SEPTEMBER 24—Norma Talmadge in "Camille" at the Metropolitan.

PICTURESQUE CAREER OF DOWLING

Eddie Dowling

That one need not necessarily be born to the stage in order to become thoroughly proficient in all its ramifications, is attested in the career of Eddie Dowling, star and co-author of the musical comedy success, "Honeymoon Lane," which will be the opening attraction of the season at the Tremont Monday night.

Dowling is the son of a cottontester in one of the big mills of New England. Like George M. Cohan, he was born in Providence, R. I., being one of a family of fifteen children; and, again like Cohan, he writes not only the words and music of the plays, but also interprets the leading roles.

The career of this youthful star has been highly picturesque. After reaching the seventh grade of grammar school he decided that the rest of the curriculum was bunk, so he went away from there and garnered himself a job as cabin boy on a steamship line operating between Boston and New York. The tediousness of one of these voyages was relieved by a shipwreck off Point Judith, R. I., in which he was one of twenty-two survivors.

Subsequently he secured a job singing illustrated songs in Marcus Loew's motion picture and vaudeville houses.

MUSSOLINI IN MOVIETONE DEBUT

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Mussolini, one foreign statesman who is always front page news, will address an American audience for the first time when the Fox movietone talking picture opens in Times square. The time set for Mussolini's debut on Broadway is the last of September and I regret that I shall not be here to hear his speech given in his own voice.

Premier Benito Mussolini, you may be sure, will have something of importance to say in his first American speech. Probably a plea for pleasant diplomatic relations between Italy and this country. All the world knows that is excellent advice at this time.

Furthermore, I am told that Italy's popular Premier will say a few words about his political hopes and ambitions and something of Italy's achievements.

If there is any doubt of the magnetism of the great Mussolini perhaps Douglas Fairbanks or Mary Pickford will consent to tell of his courtesy to them when they visited Rome, as well as his remarkable personality.

WHEN a young woman has youth and the good looks of Lina Basquette, she usually gets what she goes after. That is why I am not surprised that her husband, Sam Warner, has permitted her to go on with her movie career.

Miss Basquette, as she insists upon being called, so that no one will for a moment believe that Sam Warner is using his influence to get her a role, has a new job. This one is in "Serenade," the Adolphe Menjou picture, and she is playing a dancer.

Everyone will admit after her dancing on the New York stage she is well suited to such a part.

ONCE the Fox company starts boosting an actress there is no let-up in their activities. A few days ago I announced that June Collyer had been chosen as Edmund Lowe's leading woman in "Baloo."

Now I am told Miss Collyer will play the feminine appeal in "Grandma Bernie Learns Her Letters." James Hall, by the by, who has been loaned again to the Fox company by Famous Players-Lasky, has the chief male role.

VARIETY AND PICTURES

BOWDOIN SQUARE—Norma Shearer in "After Midnight," and Buck Jones in "Good As Gold." Also personal appearance of the screen star, Wanda Hawley.

WALDRON'S CASINO—(Burlesque) Lew Kelly and "His Greatest Show" revue, with Hap Froyer in support. Also pictures and vaudeville.

GAYETY—(Burlesque) Billy Gilbert and his "High Hat Revue."

HOWARD—(Burlesque) "Stolen Sweets" revue. Also pictures and vaudeville.

NORUMBEGA PARK—Pictures and vaudeville in the open air theatre, and various midway attractions.

BACK BAY DRAMA HAS ITS FASCINATIONS

GABY FAY supplies merry entertainment in "Murray Hill," reappearing at the Copley.

PRETTY SOFT for Ruth Hiatt taking it easy like this, but she deserves the rest after traipsing darkest Africa with Sid Chaplin in "The Missing Link," a jungle junket on the Fenway screen today.

EDITH SPEARE has a goodly share in the hilarity of "Cradle Snatchers" (St. James).

Celluloid Garters Both Fad and Superstition

Off with the old, on with the new—in garters.

That is the rule followed by Paulette Duval, whose exotic beauty graces the role of an adventuress de luxe in "Alias the Lone Wolf," coming Monday to the Orpheum. Miss Duval, as legend has it, changes her garters in every successful film production. They are unique, too, being made of film from the picture in which she is working.

Paulette Duval

Miss Duval claims her film garters bring good luck.

Nature's Background Only in Marion Davies Film

Backgrounds are becoming more and more important in the filming of motion pictures. Though there was a craze, especially in Europe, for painted drops, rather than natural scenery, this fad is dying out and the film producer is now paying greater attention to natural backgrounds as the frame for motion picture action.

One of the most beautiful pastoral effects to be produced on the screen, according to reports from the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, will be shown with the release of Marion Davies new production, "Quality Street," adapted from Sir James Barrie's famous play.

This bit of scenery was located by studio scouts at Los Turas Lake fifty miles outside of Hollywood. It consists of rolling foothills, a beautiful lake and a natural park covered with gigantic twisted oaks that have flourished there for centuries.

Joe Rines' Orchester With New Elks Roof Revue

Joe Rines and his broadcasting orchestra will be the feature of the new Elks Hotel Roof Garden Restaurant Revue which opens Monday night. Further entertainment will be furnished by various visiting artists from New York supper clubs. The Rines band has proved highly popular with New England radio audiences and the management of the Elks has provided for a continuance of the band's broadcasting direct from the Roof Garden through the stations WNAC and WEEI.

Stockings Now "Painted" On in Gay Hollywood

Nude legs are now the vogue in Hollywood! Instead of wearing hose—even the sheerest of them—feminine Hollywood just paints its legs and lets it go at that. Paint, they argue, is cheaper than stockings—doesn't get "runs" in it—and, under some conditions, photographs far better. The little secret Renee Adoree made use of in "The Big Parade" which is in its second and final week at Loew's State. The "stockings" were applied with an air-brush and consist of a coat of waterproof lacquer.

Mascagno Ballet in New Anderson Stage Show

One of the outstanding features of John Murray Anderson's Publix stage show, "Joy Bells," at the Metropolitan is the dancing of the Stefano Mascagno Ballet. This talented organization consists of seven girls headed by Eva Mascagno, and all are pupils of Stefano Mascagno, father of the premiere.

Signor Mascagno was formerly one of the most noted dancers in Europe, having started his career in his native Italy and having appeared at La Scala in Milan and other leading opera houses and theatres on the continent. For a year and a half he appeared in Moscow in the operatic organization which included Feodor Chaliapin among its celebrities, Mascagno and the world's famous baritone being to this day fast friends.

McCormack Opens Concert Season in October

John McCormack will open the season of Sunday afternoon concerts in Symphony Hall, on October 9th. Dusolina Giannini will appear on the following Sunday, and on October 23rd, Geraldine Farrar will give a return recital after a long absence. Other sopranos to appear are Amelita Galli-Curci, Marion Talley and Maria Jeritza. Ernestine Schumann-Heink will make her farewell to Boston. Other men singers will be Reinald Werrenrath, Tito Schipa and Feodor Chaliapin.

EVENING AMERICAN SPORTS

TILDEN WINS 2ND SET

Evens Match After Lacoste Had Carried Off Honors In First Set, 6—3

Germantown Cricket Club, Philadelphia, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—On courts that have already witnessed a stirring battle for the Davis Cup, premier trophy of tennis, America made its final stand against the challenge of France in the closing two singles matches of the series.

"Big Bill" Tilden, hero of the victories that have given the United States a 2-1 lead, carried the chief hopes of the cup defenders in the first match against the French ace, Rene Lacoste.

COCHET FAVORITE.

"Little Bill" Johnston was paired with Henri Cochet in the concluding match but the Frenchman was a big favorite in this contest because of Johnston's defeat by Lacoste Thursday.

It was a cloudy day, with low visibility, an aid to Tilden's speedy strokes and cannonball service.

A crowd of more than 12,000 again taxed the capacity of the stands. Every ticket had been sold hours before the matches and thousands were turned away at the gates.

Lacoste served first and appeared a bit nervous, double-faulting on the first point, but he steadied and won the game on Tilden's errors. Tilden missed an easy volley that would have deuced the game. As Tilden brought his own rifle fire service to bear, there was a wild outburst. It was as powerful as on either previous days. He won it at love, finishing with two successive aces.

Both players were at their best, neither winning an advantage other than that scored by Lacoste in the early part of the sets.

Tilden's service, backed by good work at the net, gave him the eighth game. He was fighting furiously for points and in the ninth game gained a 30-love lead on Lacoste's delivery, only to put three successive balls into the net. A slashing placement deuced the game, but two more errors, an out and a net, gave Lacoste the set at 6—3.

Point score first set:

Tilden ....240 234 043—22—3
Lacoste ....404 451 416—29 6

Lacoste served first.

Stroke analysis first set:

	Aces	Placements	Nets	Outs	Double Faults
Tilden	..5	5	12	17	0
Lacoste	.0	0	4	7	1

Tilden jumped into a lead of 2—0 in the second set by piercing Lacoste's delivery in the second game after making his own delivery good. Big Bill brought off two marvelous backhand placements to score the break. Tilden made it three games in a row with another marvelous display, scoring four placements on drives or volleys far out of the Frenchman's reach.

After a vain chase for one shot, Tilden let down and permitted Lacoste to take the fourth game with little resistance, at love. But it was a different story in the next game when Tilden captured his own service, again inserting a brace of placements for the final two points. It made the score 4—1.

Employing the same tactics he did in the fourth game, Tilden refused to exert himself in the sixth. Big Bill seemed to be intent on conserving his strength for a long battle, relying on his own service to keep his lead. But he almost had the tables turned on him in the seventh game, pulling out the game only after trailing at love-40. Lacoste was getting everything, but finally was forced into errors that gave Tilden the game and lead at 5—2.

Lacoste was forced twice to deuce before winning the eighth game on his service. Tilden's service also went to deuce when he missed an easy volley. A close line decision cost Tilden the advantage point and Tilden lost his service by netting another return. The gallery voiced a protest on Tilden's behalf, but he silenced it by raising his racquet. It was a critical turn against "Big Bill," but he rose to the emergency by taking the tenth game on another break through Lacoste's service. Lacoste, trailing 15-40, brought the count to deuce by his fine control, but then netted a return to lose advantage point. Tilden's overhead smash for a placement settled the game and set at 6-4.

Tilden Has Been Serving French Fried

For the past two days and today he gets a chance to administer French leave to the French representatives in the Davis Cup matches at Philly. If Tilden can beat Rene Lacoste, the treasured tennis cup remains in this country.

U. S. Cup Depends Upon Johnston's Legs

In the event of Tilden falling down against Lacoste this afternoon. America needs only one of today's matches to cinch the cup. Little Bill's stems have been wabbling around a bit, but he expects to stagger through to victory over Henri Cochet.

BOBBY BROWN IS OUT TO HAND MELLO UPSET

Bobby Brown of Lowell, who is slated to meet Al Mello, his fellow townsman, next Monday night in the windup bout of the Suffolk A. A. tourney in the Boston Arena, is so elated and cocky over the prospect also confident in his ability to win that he is seeking a chance here at Johnny Indrisano.

"I realize," he declared today, "that I am on the short end as regards my coming bout with Mello, particularly because I lost to Laddie Lee. I have yet to see Mello in the ring with Lee, even willing to take a chance, so my batting average as regards Lee is even better than Mello's. The first tough fighter Mello got up against, Hudkins, put it all over him. I consider I have more than an even break next Monday night and so sure am I of my chances that if a local opponent is wanted here for Indrisano, I'll take the job."

Whether or no Mello has any hunches as regards Brown, this is sure, he is keeping both quiet and very busy in his gym.

The other bouts on the long card arranged by Tom Goodwin shape as likely to be productive of plenty of fighting, with much interest manifest in the eights between Roy Mitchell and Mike Burke of New York and Arthur Flynn, Lawrence, vs. Bob Lowrie, the tough Scot.

The rest of the program which completes the 50 rounds of boxing spells fistic fun of the fast and furious order when the following swing into action: Fours—Joe Taverleri, Cambridge, vs. Owen Travers, Worcester; Tom Murphy, Marlboro, vs. Tim Sullivan, Cambridge; Jim O'Neil, Cambridge, vs. George Finch, Gloucester. Sixes—Larry Brignolia, Cambridge, vs. Buddy Jenkins, Lynn, and Jackie Donohue, South Boston, vs. Pete Chico, Charlestown.

B. U. VETERANS OUT MONDAY

Coaches Brown and Robinson will close the week for the Boston University gridiron hopefuls by sending them through the same light drill that he has used for the past three days.

The men that reported for the preliminary practices were all in perfect shape. There is no man on the squad more than two or three pounds overweight. The mentors rather than take the chance of getting their men too fine are letting them take things easy.

The team is ready to start real football work. The delay can be traced to the inability of several veterans to take part in the early practice sessions. They are all expected to report Monday, however, and work will start in earnest then.

FINAL OUTDOOR SWIM MEET AT BROOKLINE

By GEORGE W. GRIMM.

Swimmers from all sections of Greater Boston will compete in the final outdoor swim meet of the season this afternoon in the Boylston Street Reservoir, under the auspices of the Town of Brookline.

Two handsome trophies, one donated by Bebe Daniels and the other by Gertrude Ederle, will be the grand prizes. The Daniels Trophy is offered for the winner in the men's 220 yards free style swim, New England junior championship swim, and the Gertrude Ederle Cup will go to the girl winning the 200 yards scratch race.

The program is lengthy with ten events, including junior national championship fancy diving contest for girls and the New England junior 220 yards free style race for men. The other events are 100 breast stroke handicap, 100 yards free style handicap and relay race scratch for men.

The women will have competition in the 50 yards free style handicap, 220 yards free style scratch and 100 yards backstroke championship.

CLEVELAND'S FAREWELL GAME TODAY

The Red Sox wish the American League had six more Cleveland clubs. In that case the Carrigans would be leading the parade, for they have been licking the Indians all year. The final opportunity comes this afternoon in a single game. Then the Indians go away from here, and they'll be very glad to do that.

The natives have already won two in a row, and with Hal Wiltse and Danny MacFayden both ready to go today, there's at least an even chance of a cleanup.

The Sox have something on the Cleveland club, which finished second a year ago, but has been having a tough time to keep out of seventh place all through this campaign. The western manager, Mister McAllister, will send his best bet, George Uhle, after this last one. George was the league leader a year ago most of the way, but this season has not been so good. He stopped up, and so did the other pitchers.

That's the answer to the sad fate of the club, which would seem to have enough ability to be much better off than it is at present.

Rumors are beginning to fly around about managerial change on the Cleveland Club, as well as the sale of the franchise. McAllister, in his first year, has had a tough old time, and the club has not done at all well financially. So there will be a shift in all likelihood.

The club has been on the point of being sold several times in the last couple of years, but the deal has always hit an obstacle. There is a chance now that Mrs. Dunn, principal owner, will step out after an unprofitable season.

DALEY SEEKS RIGHT END

Although the candidates have been out but four days the makeup of the Boston College varsity line seems pretty well settled. The right end berth is the only dubious position.

This does not mean that Daley has gone ahead and picked his frontier. But all the boys who held the jobs last year are back again and it's going to be a pretty stiff task for any rookie to displace one of them.

Coach Daley has no favorites and every man out for the eleven is getting a fair show. He announced at the start that all the positions were open and that no one was sure of his place on the eleven.

The line shapes up with McGuirk and Durant, tackles, Captain Tom O'Brien and Wilczewski, guards, and Earl Clinton, center. The left wing berth is held down at present by Marty Whelan and the other extremity is being fought for by Mort Lenane and Charley Murphy.

All these boys have been under fire and can play football. They are all in good shape and it seems that only injuries will keep any one of them from the regular berths in the forward line.

MR. BOSTON

By Jack Conway

"WHO said boxing is dead?" demanded Mr. Boston with much feeling as he made a perfect landing in the Sporting Department today. "I have here," the veteran went on as he pointed to a sheet of paper, "facts and figures which prove that the ring game in the Hub was never so prosperous. I understand that even the preliminary boys and the palooka managers are now fattening up on tenderloin steaks and smothered onions. The days of famine in the fistic racket have gone.

"Eddie Mack, matchmaker of the Argonne A. A., has furnished me with figures showing that 75,000 persons have sat in at the six shows which have been staged at the Battle Field of Action.

"The high water mark in attendances was reached at the Finnegan-Herman show when 18,000 persons turned out to witness festivities.

"'That record of 18,000 won't stand for long,' remarked the confident Mister Mack today. 'I have Jimmy Sacco and Sid Barbarian of Detroit in a return ten-round mill at Braves Field on next Tuesday night. These boys will jam more than 20,000 persons into the baseball orchard. Make a note of this prediction.'

"I KNOW that I won't miss this Sacco-Barbarian jam. For real action the last meeting between these boys was one of the best I have ever seen. It was a midget edition of the Dempsey-Firpo bout.

"Johnny Carr, who manages Sacco, has been largely responsible for Sacco's success. He has fired Jimmy with the thought he can lick any man of his weight in the world. I have always believed that a fighter who won't be beaten can't be beaten.

"Sacco had a four-pound weight advantage for his last tussle with Barbarian. This time he'll enter the ring at 138 pounds. So will be the puncher from Detroit. The fact Sacco will be making weight leads many of the so-called wise boys to believe Jimmy will have more trouble beating Barbarian than he had in their last meeting.

"Sacco made 138 pounds for Buddy Clark at Lynn and knocked the Salem battler stiff. So I don't think a few pounds in weight will injure his chances of victory on Tuesday night.

"There's nothing fancy about the way Sacco fights. He just parades in to close quarters and keeps bombing away with both hands. Tough as Barbarian is, he'll find it quite a job to get past the East Boston entry.

"I THINK the bargain prices have been responsible for the big crowds at recent fights. The gang tired of paying grand opera prices for ordinary attractions.

"Tom Goodwin of the Suffolk Club found this out in the case of the Fuller-Sheppard bout. This match didn't create any great amount of interest when advertised at a $3 top. Goodwin later cut the price to 50 cents to $2 and played to a 10,000 crowd.

"I don't think that 50-cent boxing means the end of the so-called high price shows. Let some promoter go out and sign up a couple of acknowledged headliners and there won't be a place large enough for the gang who will want to pay top prices to see the jam. The public, though, won't pay top prices any longer for the average run of shows. Boxing fans were milked long enough."

Lynn Out to Win "World Series"

Portland, Sept. 10.—Having taken three games in a row, Lynn is out to grab off the New England League "Little World Series" by making it four straight over Duffy Lewis' Portland nine here at Bayside Park today.

Manager Tom Whalen of Lynn is sending Clements, the former Williams hurler, after the fourth game, while Bennett is the probable pitching choice for the home club. The game starts at 3:15.

NEW YORK A. C. TO HOLD OUTDOOR FIGHT TOURNEYS

New York, Sept. 10.—Outdoor amateur boxing tournaments will be held by the New York A. C. at Travers Island next Monday and Thursday evenings.

WALTER HAGEN HEADED FOR GOLF TITLE

Chicago, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Walter Hagen had little difficulty in maintaining a good lead up to the final round of the Western open golf championship today, as he broke par by one stroke on the fourth course of Olympic Fields and added a fine 69 to his 137 for the first two rounds for a total of 206.

The most of the players who were six or seven strokes behind the defending champion at the start of today's rounds played well in today's first round, but Hagen's excellent score was as good as [illegible] and with only 18 holes to go, "The Haig" seemed assured of [illegible] western open title. In fact, he stood an excellent chance of winning it for the second successive time by a score better than his record of 278 for the event.

After setting a record of 67 for No. 1 course yesterday, predictions were numerous that Hagen might slump. Instead, he came within two strokes of his record of 67 for the four courses, made two years ago in the finals of the Professionals Championship, which he won. He played every hole but three today in exact par. He had birdies at the first and thirteenth and was one over par on the 180-yard eight, where he was wide of the green, about the only mistake of the round.

Drive for Sunday Sports Bill Opens

The campaign for the passage of the so-called Sunday sports bill, which is sponsored by Alfred G. Doe of New Bedford and many prominent citizens, will get under way this week, when those interested will begin the soliciting of names for the petition to place the measure on the ballot and thus permit a free expression of the voters of Massachusetts on the question.

All told it will be necessary to secure 20,000 names, but as there are over 800,000 people known to favor the measure it is felt that the securing of the necessary number is only a matter of the activity of the solicitors.

The bill, as drawn, is a permissive one, to take effect after its passage only in such communities as may accept the act. It provides for games for which an admission is charged under local sanction or permit between the hours of 2 and 6 o'clock on Sunday afternoons under such regulations as local authorities may designate.

Bethlehem Golf

Bethlehem, N. H., Sept. 10.—In the final round of the 11th annual Autum tourney, T. F. Sheridan defeated J. Barrett, 2 and 1.

In the semi-final round of the losing eight, O. E. Leach defeated F. L. Breitinger, 19 holes.

EVENING AMERICAN SPORTS

OPENING POLO TILT TODAY

Four Horsemen of America Battle British Team at Meadow Brook Field

New York, Sept. 10.—America's flashing four horsemen of the polo terrain will swarm into action on International Field at Meadow Brook this afternoon in defence of the international challenge (once the Westchester) cup, one of the great sports trophies of all time, before what should be the greatest turnout in the modern history of the galloping game.

They will meet at four o'clock on the field that for lustre and surface would shame many a billiard table, a gallant four from the British Army in India.

It is the first contest in a two-out-of-three affair that will match the mounted genius of the land where polo supremacy has come to be an accepted thing, against an Anglo-Saxon team whose play was learned in the land of the Maharajahs whence in the long ago it traveled to England, and thence to the United States, where it has prospered mightily.

Surrounding this field of the gorgeous cloth of green will be at once the most distinguished and the most vivid assemblage it is possible to get together at any international event.

It will be that strange and stunning mixture of class and mass that is found only in the wake of the thoroughbred horse, for there is a four-footed aristocracy of the polo field as devoutedly worshipped as that of the race track.

EXPECT 40,000 GATE.

The worshippers this time, in the robin's egg blue stands—the robin's egg blue of famous Meadow Brook—will number forty thousand—more probably if one counts certain standees behind the wire at one end of the field, the steadfast standees who know quite as much about the game as any boxholder on the clubhouse roof.

It is a crowd in which the English challengers will not lack for hearty support from start to finish, for aside from the dignitaries of Great Britain and India, lacking this time the presence of the Prince of Wales, but marshalled by Lord Cowdray and Sir Harold Snagge the leaders of the modern Hurlingham, and Captain the Hon. Frederick E. Guest long a power in British polo, whose son, Winston Guest, is an American substitute, in support of the Maharajah of Ratlam, picturesque sponsor of the challengers, there will be a big assemblage of English, Irish and Scottish, with a large sprinkling of Australians from whose country come more than half of the speedy mounts to be ridden by the invaders.

PARADE BEFORE MATCH

There will be the usual band, the riding up of the two teams side by side to confront the stand with its array of social and sartorial prestige, mallets at the salute, and then the bell, and the struggle through eight chukkers of the fastest game in the world.

There is polo in the blood of the men as well as in the blood of the mounts. Here is Tommy Hitchcock, whose father played on the first American four away back in 1886, and in reserve J. Cheever Cowdin, whose father, J. E. Cowdin, saw action in an international match in 1902. Here is Devereaux Milburn, sheer polo genius, who has played in every match since and including the original big four's winning invasion of England under the direction of Harry Payne Whitney in 1909, the year of the great revolution in the game itself.

COLORFUL PAT ROARK.

Here, on the British side, is the Irish star, late of the Poona Horse, who yet is no stranger to American fields through his brilliant play on Laddy Sanford's Hurricane Four that won the American open championship a year ago. He is C. T. I. Roark in the program, but in action he is "Pat" Roark, a hard-galloping, hard-hitting, colorful figure, who berates his men in action, constantly exhorting them to action in no uncertain language, but with a smile and a word of thanks to his grooms a strange mixture of the battle instinct and extreme gentleness.

Then there is the stocky Atkinson, another familiar figure, who made his first appearance here with the Count De Madre's Tigers, and, who came back with the ill-starred British four three years ago. Major Atkinson is also a familiar foeman of the American army officers, and popular with all of them.

Captain Pert and Major Williams are newcomers, but men who have played brilliantly at times and have also caught the eye of American lovers of the game.

Blue Hill Golf

Canton, Sept. 10—Blue Hill Country Club's two-day M. G. A. tournament opened with a field of 70 entered. The first day's play brought out Joe Lynch of Albemarle, junior champion; Joe Monaghan, Belmont; Horace Partridge Jr. Crow Point; Harry Fogg, Scarboro, and "Red" Cooney, of Forest Hills.

Chapman and Bass at Play

The principals in Monday night's featherweight title battle are pictured during one of their idle moments. Red Chapman, local entry on right, has taken up tennis as a side line to his boxing. Benny Bass is pictured high in the air. Red may drop him from his lofty position when the two are surrounded by hemp ropes in Philadelphia.

Nurmi Threatens to Forsake Finland

Helsingfors, Finland, Sept. 10.—The last minute decision of Paavo Nurmi not to participate in the important Swedish-Finnish athletic meeting at Stockholm because he objected to one of the Swedish runners has now developed into an open conflict between himself and the Finnish Athletic Federation.

Nurmi objects to being told by the federation in what events he should enter and declares he will not represent Finland in the future, but expresses the hope that some other country will accept his services in international competition. His federation, however, states it will forbid Nurmi from representing any other country, so it is quite possible Nurmi may give up running.

Inside Golf

By Chester Horton

We have discussed what makes the ball go persistently to the right of the cup. Too often, too, it goes to the left. One thing that can cause this is turning the blade through the ball, so that the blade at the finish is to the left of the direction line, with the toe pointing upward. The blade should be directly on the line, with the face of the blade directly toward the cup, largely the identical position it occupied as it hit the ball. It is for this reason that I urge the practice of "Left hand back, right hand forward." When the right hand thus strokes the ball its tendency is to shove the blade straight out through the ball, not across it. Take a rather firm grip with the putter—not tight and rigid yet at the same time do not be loose and floppy with the grip. And do not let the left hand loosen because you hit with the right. Stroke the ball delicately, but firmly, and with click.

CHAPMAN AND BASS READY FOR GONG

Philadelphia, Sept. 10 (A.P.)—With both Benny Bass and Red Chapman asserting they are ready to go, [illegible] now [illegible] the [illegible] weight boxing [illegible] of the world and the $[illegible] offered by the city of Philadelphia to the winner of the bout, the fighters [illegible] passed the [illegible] ing and now are engaged in light workouts.

Flashing the [illegible] he hopes will dazzle Bass in the ring Monday night, Chapman wound up his hard work yesterday with three rounds of boxing, one of shadow boxing and another of calisthenics. Tomorrow Chapman will box [illegible] which is [illegible] the day will be devoted entirely to resting. He may do a little road work today, but that will be all.

Bass [illegible] off heavy work until the fight. The [illegible] is in perfect shape for the "crucial" bout of his career.

Mrs. Mallory Wins Another Court Title

Philadelphia, Sept. 10 (A.P.)—Mrs. Molla Mallory, of New York, today won the women's Middle States singles tennis championship by defeating Kea Bouman, of Holland in straight sets, 6—4, 6—4. The match was played on the Philadelphia Cricket Club courts.

After a short rest Mrs. Mallory and Miss Bouman defeated Sarah and Marianne Palfrey, of Boston, in straight sets for the middle States doubles championship. The scores were 7—5, 6—3.

Tiger Says Tunney Is Safety Fighter and Never Carried a Fight to Anybody

(Copyright, 1927, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 10.—All this talk about Gene Tunney's plan to wade into me and slug it out so that he can secure a knockout, is bunk and piffle—and every man in Tunney's camp knows it is just that.

Never in his life did Tunney carry the fight to any man. It's a dangerous procedure and Tunney is a safety fighter. He always has been—always will be. And for this fight, when he is protecting the championship, he will be more so than ever.

[illegible]

I went into him—and he punched me full of holes. He beat me because I elected to try to make a fight of it—not to play the safety game. But I was champion then, and I felt it my duty as champion to make a fight of it, even if I lost my title in the trying.

NOW Tunney is Champion. What kind of a champ [illegible] Will he ACTUALLY FIGHT [illegible] pedaling or countering.

[illegible]

TUNNEY MUST FIGHT—or there may be plenty of dissatisfied folks in that audience. I'll give him his chance in the first round [illegible] in and mix it with me and [illegible] But if he doesn't—well [illegible] that, I may be able to demonstrate that I'm a better waiter than he is.

If he pulls that old caution stuff and that "stand-away and wait" thing on me in the first round—if he won't fight and RISK defeat—then I may steal his stuff and absolutely refuse to take one further forward step.

And if that happens then Tunney either must show he's a [illegible] and come to me and FIGHT as real champions do—or we are liable to just stand there in the ring for the other nine rounds and let the referee make his decision based upon which of us makes the prettier picture in what's called "repose."

TUNNEY IS NOT WORRIED OVER TITLE BOUT

By GENE TUNNEY

Copyright, 1927, King Features Synd., Inc.

Lake Villa, Ill., Sept. 10.—A number of friends of mine came out to camp today, ostensibly, I suspect, to help take my mind off the coming fight. I enjoyed their visit—it was my third day of rest in order to give the cut over my eye a chance to heal—but if I worried over my impending encounter with Jack Dempsey as much as some people seem to suspect I would be a nervous wreck on the night of Sept. 22.

My friends were honest in their efforts to afford me relaxation, but there are others who seem particularly gifted with imaginations that can see every possible contingency arise to thwart any plan of campaign I might decide to use against Dempsey. And they insist upon airing their fears.

GENE IRRITATED.

All this irritates me more than anything that might happen in the ring. They ask me, "Are you worried over the fight? Are you worried over Dempsey? Are you worried over losing the title? Are you worried—"

And I am forced to say "yes" [illegible] walk away. That seems to satisfy them. The secret is of course they want me to worry. They conceive of worry as a [illegible] and if I didn't worry they would believe that I wasn't taking the fight seriously; that I was cold blooded, etc. Ad infinitum.

But as a matter of fact right now 12 days before the contest—I am not worried in the least about how the battle will come out. I may be irritated by a dozen little difficulties that arise in a training camp and some of the miscalculations made in the arrangements for the contest, but I have not the slightest nervous trepidation over the events that will take place once both Jack and I are in the ring and the bell sounds for the first round.

This may sound like boasting, but it isn't that at all. I didn't say that I never worried, but I say now that I never worry just before the fight.

And here is why. I found out long ago, when I was boxing my first youthful engagement, that worry took about one-third of my strength away and practically destroyed any judgment I might have when I went into the ring. For months I tried to figure out a method to overcome an obstacle which threatened to cut short my boxing career before it grew out of the stage of swaddling clothes.

LEARNS SECRET.

Finally, I hit upon the secret. And [illegible] it is the minute I find out the identity of the man I am going to box I start planning on how I will box him. If I have fought him before I go over every step of our former bout and plan out my campaign for the coming [illegible]. If I have not boxed him, I go over the record of his fights with others and study his style.

Then I spend two or three weeks [illegible] perfect [illegible] In the [illegible] coming fight with Jack [illegible] was [illegible] months ago. [illegible] I have decided on [illegible] of campaign, my [illegible]

[illegible] exchange of the [illegible] I will fight him [illegible] the thing [illegible] once my decision [illegible] is over. After [illegible] It wouldn't do any good to worry about it.

Big Green's Line Gives Coach Hawley Worry

By BILL GRIMES

Hanover, N. H., Sept. 10.—After today's double session, Dartmouth will wind up its first week of practice and every man on the squad will welcome tomorrow's lay off, for no green team has ever been subjected to such a strenuous week as Coach Jesse Hawley has put his charges through since they reported last Tuesday.

Although some of the players appreciated that football at Hanover is going to be a more serious proposition than it has been for years, not even Captain Bob McPhail had even the slightest inkling of what he was walking into when he stepped into the Davis Field House to get ready for the opening practice session of the season.

From the first workout the Dartmouth squad has been driven hard. Fortunately with very few exceptions the players were in fine condition when they reported to Coach Hawley.

The present Dartmouth squad boasts of but three last year's regulars, Captain McPhail, Myles Lane and Johnnie Phillips, and therefore with eight positions open there is no alternative for Coach Hawley to pursue.

A more inexperienced squad never represented a big college than that which will wear the Dartmouth green this season. Realizing that his players are lacking in the fundamentals of football, Coach Hawley started from the very bottom.

During the first practice session, the squad spent considerable time learning the proper and only way to throw and block and even more time was allotted to live tackling.

BOYS TAKE LICKING.

For a squad to be put through a half hour of blocking and about the same amount of live tackling on its first day out is real punishment. But that is just what Coach Hawley did and his players took a fine [illegible].

Twice every day the entire squad is put through a blocking and tackling routine and right now the boys are just beginning to shake off the numerous sore spots and bruises brought on by eight tough sessions.

Although only about 45 men reported for the first practise, the squad now numbers 76, and by the middle of next week will be enlarged to about 125.

It is going to be a tough week, and one which will linger for some time in the minds of the late comers. Every man was ordered to report last Tuesday and no allowances will be made in the way of softening the work for those who dodged the first week.

Dartmouth will use a new shift this season, one which promises to be even more effective than the old one, for the new one allows two men a direct shot at the end. Much time is being devoted to this shift and within a couple of weeks the backs will have their new assignments letter perfect.

ANOTHER FIERY BACKFIELD.

Myles Lane, the veteran of two years, is working with Freddie Breithut as his running mate with Dick Black, the sensational line plungers, at full, and Captain Bob McPhail back at his old quarterback position.

Unless injuries break up this combination, it should develop into one of the best and all around backfields running attacks Dartmouth has had in years.

Offensively, Swede Oberlander, Myles Lane, Hooker Horton and Bob McPhail may have had an edge on the present aggregation but the 1925 combination was not strong defensively especially on the side of the one Oberlander protected.

Breithut, who will be assigned to the zone formerly allotted to Oberlander, is a fine defensive man, especially effective breaking up an overhead attack. Horton was a wonder on the defense but the same is true of Dick Black, while Myles Lane and Bob McPhail are both smart football men.

At present Coach Hawley has his two star last year's freshman backs Al Marsters and Hamm, working in the backfield of team B. This pair came to Hanover from Exeter with fine reputations and they have both lived up to their advance notices.

Bob Harris, who performed sensationally last season, is at quarter with "Bummer" Grimes, a product of Oklahoma, at right half.

BLACK CAN BOOT 'EM.

Dick Black, Bob Harris and Al Hamm will do the kicking for the Green. Black did some fine punting last year and even at this early date he is showing improvement over his 1926 form. Black is getting his kicks away faster, has acquired more distance and better height.

Harris is a good punter as is Hamm, while Marsters may also be assigned to boot some and if such is the case Dartmouth will have three triple threats, Black, Hamm and Marsters.

Without exception every back on the first and second teams can pass, which should prove a fine asset. Much of the long passing will be performed by Dick Black and Al Hamm but they will all take a hand at the short flat heaves.

The Dartmouth backfield is causing Hawley no worry and he expects to be able to be protected by someone [illegible] if not up to that wonderful pair of 1925 George Tuby and Heine Sage, will be far better than the average run.

It is the line which is robbing the Dartmouth mentor of many hours of sleep. He must get an entirely new line for with the exception of Johnnie Phillips, there is not a regular on hand from last season.

The present Dartmouth team will be the lightest the Green has had in years. There are only four men on the squad who weigh over 190. Phillips has put on 12 pounds and now tips the beam at 195. Al Adams, centre on the freshman team last Fall, who is on the hospital list and will be out of the game for three weeks with a bad ankle and Art Gow, substitute for Joe Davis on Hooker Horton's team are both just shy of the 200 mark, while Brown is the only two hundred pounder on the squad.

LIGHT FAST LINE.

With no heavy men available Dartmouth must rely on its speed and fight. The line candidates have shown speed in the various forms of racing which have featured every practise.

Line Coach Norm Crisp is giving his charges a thorough course in the fundamentals of line play. While the backs, ends and centres are smoothing out the running attacks, throwing and receiving passes and absorbing defensive instruction, the linemen are away over in one corner of the field with Coach Crisp charging, blocking and coming out of the line.

Philips and Armstrong are practically sure to make the grade, which will give Dartmouth plenty of strength on the left side. Swede Sederburg, Mike Sherman, Frank Foster, Red Langdell and Tex Cole appear to have the call over Tom Wolfe and Bill Bragner, but this last named pair are liable to upset the works for they are both fighters and showing noticeable improvement daily.

Coach Hawley will continue the two session daily practise until college opens one week from next Thursday and expects his squad to be better prepared both physically and mentally than any team he has coached at Dartmouth.

No attempt will be made to pick the team until just prior to the Harvard game at which time Hawley expects to have a real line on his charges.

Jack Dempsey Laughs Off Proceedings In Court

By LEO P. FLYNN,

Manager of Jack Dempsey.

Chicago, Sept. 10.—I had intended to increase Jack Dempsey's boxing schedule to seven or eight rounds instead of the six he traveled Thursday at Lincoln Fields.

However, the law intervened and we went to court.

It was in connection with proceedings brought by the Coliseum Club to restrain Dempsey from meeting Tunney. I will comment on the court appearance in regard to its effect on Dempsey.

Now, if you will carry your mind back a year, you will remember that Dempsey was beset by legal snarls that without a question had an enormous bearing on his fight with Tunney at Philadelphia. He was game and tried to keep calm, but the constant worry over the things which he did not deserve and could not understand—being no lawyer—made him fret and lose valuable energy.

Well, when we went to court, Jack was jovial and did much kidding all the way into town. Then, when he was surrounded by thousands of fans as he entered the court, he showed no sign of being off balance.

And in the long proceedings that followed the arguments—frankly, I was dog-tired from listening—didn't seem to draw any on Dempsey's great reserve which he has built up so carefully and scientifically beginning back before his great triumph over Sharkey.

I cite all this to show that the Dempsey temperament is ideal for his coming battle, no matter what handicaps come or go.

Of course, it does no one any good to be taken right out of any serious task and plunged into a strange, complicated atmosphere, such as obtains in a court. But in a way I am glad to have seen Dempsey's greatly improved mental slant hold up so admirably under fire.

He will resume work today, unless, of course, the court matter is dragged along, and is in such fine physical condition that he will suffer no set back.

A year ago, this case would have been another serious handicap to Dempsey. But now I believe it actually may be more beneficial than detrimental to him, in that it is a sort of diversion.

While the lawyers were tangling, Dempsey and I talked golf. You see I am not a little peeved over his winning two suits of clothes from me early in the week when we matched our irons on the Bob o' Link course.

I have to get those suits back if it takes from now until the day of the battle.

GOLDSTEIN FIGHTS A DRAW WITH BOY WALLY

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 10 (A.P.)—Harry Goldstein of Boston, and Boy Wally of Singapore, battled at a torrid pace through ten rounds to a draw here last night. The bout was part of an elimination tournament to select a successor to the flyweight title recently relinquished by Fidel La Barba.

SAIL FOR FAR-AWAY TURKEY

Dr. James L. Barton, one of America's best-known missionaries, secretary-emeritus of the American Board of Foreign Missions, bids goodbye to Miss Ruth Hitchings of Caribou, Me., and Miss Harriet Yarrow of Wellesley and California, who are now on their long ocean voyage to Turkey, where they will be missionaries. Miss Yarrow has promised to write the editor of her experiences.

'GOD GIVES EACH HIS INDIVIDUAL WORK TO DO'

"INDIVIDUALS form a nation; and such as is the sum total of individuals so shall also the nation be. If the ideas of the individual be base or mean, the ideal of the nation will be the same; and sooner or later she will perish in her iniquity and her name become a jest and a byword. But if the ideal of the nation be for justice and right, she will, by the power of God, stand up great and strong on the earth that God shall give her.

"Of this let everyone be certain: [illegible] of its individuals contributes to the glory or the shame of the nation to which we belong.

"God has given each his special sphere, his part in work to do, and the work of each well done fits into the design of the whole plan and completes the whole.

"Liberty of the soul to worship God, to obey His commands, to follow His divine guidance, that is the [illegible] of man and the assurance [illegible] of the [illegible].

"When the true meaning of freedom is understood there is the widest freedom of soul and body."

SUNDAY MALL MEETINGS DISARRANGED BY POLICE

Many carefully planned programs for services on the Charles Street Mall Sunday afternoons have been disarranged by police regulations which have prohibited meetings of any kind. The Federation of Churches and other organizations are waiting for the delayed permission to resume.

The Federation, however, continues its Tuesday evening meetings at Temple place on Tremont street. The preachers this week are to be the Rev. Charles L. Page, D. D., the Rev. G. C. Hunsdelword, the Rev. Franklin P. Frye, the Rev. Walcott Cutler and the Rev. George Lyman Paine.

A Page of Church News

The Boston Evening American Will Print the Vital Happenings of Groups That Aid in Spiritual Enlightenment

The Boston Evening American for the first time has set aside a page of its Saturday issue to give to New England readers news of the Churches. The page will represent, in a broad way, the interesting, vital and significant happenings among Protestant, Catholic and Jewish organizations, and such other bodies as are contributing to the spiritual enlightenment of our community.

The treatment of news will be as impartial as humanly possible, but those will receive special attention who send in items and programs which have distinctive news value.

News for this page is what is happening among churches of immediate interest, and what is going on within the community which appears to be directly inspired by churches and by religious groups.

Here is an opportunity to tell the people of New England the interesting and worthwhile things the churches and clergy are doing. This is the avenue through which clergymen and parishes may inspire others waiting for an account of the unique and successful experiments, the heroic and sacrificial deed, the unusual, the fine and the outstanding service, the presence of noted visitors, adventures in co-operation between different communions and sects.

The more complete co-operation this page has with the clergymen and with church workers the more interesting it is bound to be for a very large reading public.

There are more fine and really thrilling things going on in Boston churches and synagogues every week that would make news than could be printed in any one page. Send them to the Church Editor, Boston Evening American, and watch the results.

1—Send items to the editor of this page to arrive not later than Thursday each week.

2—Send them typewritten when possible. Use telephone when too late to write.

3—Make items brief unless of great importance.

4—Send dates of important gatherings to take place in the future, that our reporters may cover such assignments.

"WHAT IS RELIGION?"

RABBI ANSWERS: SEARCH FOR TRUTH
Rabbi Harry Levi of Temple Israel, who writes for today's Church Page of the Boston Evening American on "Religion."

Religion Will Live Forever, Says Rabbi

"RELIGIONS may be many, religion is one. Denominations may go, but religion will remain, must remain. For it means an eternal search for truth, an eternal human need. People have always been religious, no mean proof of its objective reality—and always will be.

"It cannot be otherwise. Close the churches and the search will still go on. Russia may frown on religion, but the faith of the people goes on.

"We need not worry about either the present or the future of religion. There is probably more religion in the world today than we have ever known before. Not the same kind of religion, it may be, but real religion none the less.

GOD IS NOT LIMITED.

"For religion, of course, is not mere denominationalism. God is limited to no particular group. And while religion must involve creed, which is only a sum of beliefs, and theology which represents simply belief about God, and while every religion must employ forms and ceremonies, real religion, of course, is more than all these. If religion be belief in God translated into life, a search for the infinite that we may become attuned to it, then religion was never so alive. Even among the unchurched.

" 'The heaven of heavens cannot contain Thee, how much less this house which we have builded.' Often there is more religion among the unchurched than among those who attend services regularly. The radio has unearthed a mass of deep-rooted religious feeling we had not dreamed of. We need religion today—all of us; individuals and groups, nations too.

RELIGION ESSENTIAL.

"Religion, and religion alone points the way to the solution of our vexing problem. It is the only agency that gives itself wholly to this solution. And the only agency through which we may hope in time to moralize, democratize, socialize and internationalize our daily life. 'Except the Lord build the house they who build it labor in vain.'

" 'We shall never have real law until we make it a synonym of religion,' said one of our Supreme Court justices to me recently. We shall never have real life until we make life a synonym of religion."

RABBI HARRY LEVI of Temple Israel.

PRESBYTERIAN PENSION EFFECTIVE ON OCT. 1

All Presbyterian clergymen of the United States who have reached the age of sixty-five are looking forward to October with considerable satisfaction, as the new pension system will then become effective for all of them, regardless of whether they are still active.

CHRISTIANITY, WILL IT WORK? THE QUESTION

"APPLIED Christianity, will it work?" This question is asked daily. When the answer is "Yes," then we demand, "Show us!" The bare affirmation never satisfies. Many wonderful things have failed because they didn't prove practical.

Does Christianity work? Will it do all that is claimed for it? Repeatedly, these questions are asked. The answers seem uncertain. "I don't know," "They claim it does," "It has never been tried."

Nevertheless, Christianity is discussed as never before. Everybody is interested, and Christianity demands recognition. Thousands of people, the majority of them young gathered in conferences this Summer to perfect their knowledge of Christianity.

Look at the space given to this subject in the newspapers. Christianity has news value. Apart from articles and news, 22,000 papers publish a scripture text and prayers supplied by the Press Radio Bureau. The space used is donated and could not be secured for any other purpose.

Multitudes would like to test Christianity provided it did not cost too much. They know it works in a few persons. As a rule, these are modest people, who make little impression on others. True, they prove that Christianity works in individuals. But can we apply Christianity to running a newspaper, managing a bank and solving national and international problems?

Jesus believed Christiaity could be applied. He revealed God as light and truth and life and that everything would be normal when men became right with God.

The day is near when many will be willing to risk all for God, as Jesus did. The leaders in this will suffer. Like the Master, they may be crucified, but they will prove that Christianity can be applied and that it works.

BAY STATE TO OBSERVE CHURCH RALLY DAY OCT. 2

Protestant churches throughout the country have received a communication from the Federal Council of Churches, setting aside Sunday, Oct. 2, as "Church Rally Day." The message reads:

"That the first Sunday of October be selected for Church Rally Sunday with emphasis upon family church attendance. This rally to be preceded by a thorough-going visitation of the parish that newcomers may be given personal invitation and that all the people may be reminded of the program of the church, become acquainted with the personnel, and be given a new understanding of their responsibility for the work and the worship of the church."

The Greater Boston Federation of Churches, and the Massachusetts Federation are co-operating in this widespread movement.

BAPTIST ASSOCIATION TO HOLD 16 MEETINGS

A series of sixteen Baptist Association meetings in Massachusetts will begin this coming Monday. The first one is to take place in the town of Rowe near the Vermont line. This is the Springfield Association. The Westfield Association will hold its sessions in Palmer September 13-14. The Berkshire Association convenes at Cheshire the 15th, and the Wachusetts Association at Athol September 16.

The Rev. T. Higgenbotham, field secretary, for the Massachusetts Baptist convention, will speak before most of the conferences on missionary matters and especially on "Making the Budget Live."

MISS FRANCES SMITH ALIEN SUPERVISOR

Miss Frances Smith, who has been supervisor of emigrant welfare work of East Boston, has been promoted to become supervisor of all emigrant work for the Catholic Charitable Bureau, with headquarters at No. 48 Tremont street. Her territory will include the north south, east wards of Boston.

Miss Smith is a graduate of Trinity College, Washington, where she majored in social service. She follows Miss Mary A. Cotter, who is now Deputy Commissioner of Child Welfare for the city of Boston.

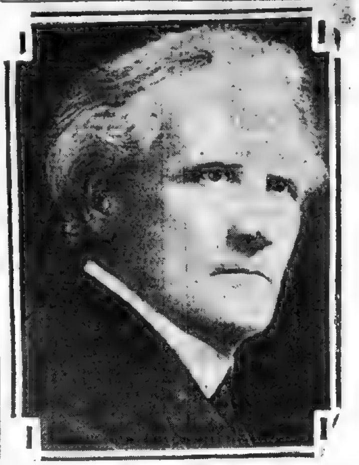
NEW PASTORS WANTED BY THREE CHURCHES

Churches now seeking pastors in Greater Boston include the Auburndale Centenary Methodist Church where the Rev. Earl E. Harper recently resigned to take the presidency of a Western college, the Universalist Church in Arlington, where a committee is working hard to find the right man, and the Congregational Church in Squantum, with a vacant pulpit because the pastor the Rev. Albert H. Burrows, has accepted a professorship in Penn College, Oscaloosa, Iowa, to teach social ethics.

ST. JOHN'S RETREAT TO CLOSE TUESDAY

Next Tuesday will end the annual retreat for the Catholic Clergy at St. John's Seminary, Brighton, where the 700 priests of the Boston diocese spend a week each in prayer and introspection. Two hundred additional priests belonging to special orders hold their retreat in their own houses. The fourth division, now in retreat at Brighton, will return to their respective parishes Tuesday, the [illegible]

FINDS NEWS IN RELIGION



REV. ROBERT WATSON
President of Massachusetts Federation of Churches tells of the great number of people interested in Christianity and says multitudes would be willing to test it if it did not cost too much.

Hope Pope Will Get Hub Church Message

Dr. Robert Watson, who has just returned from a month's stay in Washington, expressed the hope that the apparent disaster to Old Glory would not mean also that the message which he sent to the Pope for the Federation of Protestant churches, could not in some way be conveyed to the Vatican. The message which the lost air ship carried was as follows:

"From the Massachusetts Federation of Churches and the Greater Boston Federation of Churches, Massachusetts, July 29, 1927.

To His Holiness Pope Pius XI.

Honored Sir:

We send you greetings from Boston in the name of the Federation of Churches.

We are privileged in this first non-stop air flight from the United States of America to Rome and Italy thus to greet you by courtesy of the Boston American.

The intrepid heroism of our aviators is making our world a neighborhood.

We are ambitious that our spiritual brotherhood may increase with equal rapidity and that the day for which our Lord prayed that "They all may be one as Thou, Father, art in Me and I in Thee" may soon come.

May the successful transfer of this message prove a link in the chain of spiritual fellowship that shall speed the day.

Respectfully and sincerely,
Robert Watson,
President of the Massachusetts Federation of Churches, Vice-President of the Greater Boston Federation of Churches.

REV. MERCHANT BUSH GOING TO CALIFORNIA

The Rev. Merchant Bush, who for five years has been a student pastor for the Presbyterians of Greater Boston and an active worker on the student work committee of the Federation of Churches has resigned to accept the pastorate of the First Presbyterian Church at San Leandro, Cal. Mr. and Mrs. Bush will be greatly missed by hundreds of students who have frequented the clubhouse and home at 155 Bay State road.

CARL B. WETHERELL WILL HEAD PROCTOR ACADEMY

Carl B. Wetherell of Boston, for six years field secretary of central [illegible] agencies of the Unitarian Fellowship, with headquarters in San Francisco, has taken up his work in Andover, N. H., as headmaster of Proctor Academy, a well-known Unitarian School.

The school opens Wednesday, September 14.

REV. DR. CONRAD BACK FROM SUMMER TRAVEL

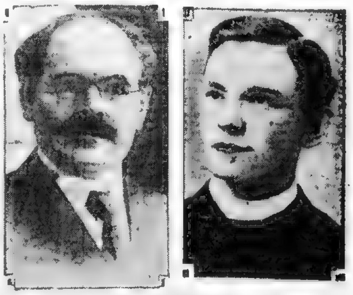
Dr. A. Z. Conrad of the Park Street Congregational Church will be in his pulpit tomorrow morning with a Summer's thrilling experiences behind him. In his prelude at the evening service he will tell something of his travels in England, Scotland and France.

He was a witness to the Sacco-Vanzetti riots in Paris and will describe those scenes of proletarian indignation and sorrow. Dr. Conrad will also explain the misunderstanding which arose through the similarity of names between Gipsy Smith, the evangelist, and Gipsy Pat Smith, a young man of recent newspaper notoriety.

BISHOP SLATTERY TO PREACH IN WINCHESTER

Bishop Slattery will preach in the Emmanuel Church, Winchester, tomorrow. On Tuesday he will open the Federal court session with prayer.

CAN YOU NAME THEM?



BOTH PROMINENT IN BOSTON
These are photographs of two of Boston's leading clergymen taken about the time they graduated from college. To the reader who will send in the names of the churchmen in the best and clearest ten-word statement, provided the reader is among the first twenty to write, the Boston Evening American will give a Bible, Prayer Book or any other book with a value not to exceed $2.

EVERY day the American publishes two thrilling and interesting stories by authors of recognized standing. Here you can find the latest serial fiction published in generous installments each day.

THE patent for the first sewing machine in the world was issued on September 10, 1846, to Elias Howe, of Boston, although the journeymen tailors of Boston had fiercely opposed it, fearing that it would destroy their means of livelihood.

Where's Emily?

by CAROLYN WELLS
Author of "The MYSTERY GIRL"

Story of a Girl Who Did Just What She Chose and Then Took Flight

CHAPTER 29

"I SHALL t[illegible] it happened," Emily began in a low, clear voice.

"I left here about 5 o'clock the day of the tea, to run over to the hospital to kiss Mrs. Laurence's new baby. I had on my diamond necklace and I caught up my [illegible] and put it on.

"As I crossed the [illegible] ravine I thought I saw Mr. and Mrs. Pennington on the bridge over the ravine. [illegible]

[illegible]

"He put a key in the safe and [illegible] he fiddled with the combination [illegible] 'See,' he said, [illegible] the combination, 31—17—5. You can't open it until Wednesday. It is a time lock.'

"'And I'm to stay here until Wednesday?' I exclaimed, still more mad than frightened. 'Yes,' he said. 'Rosa will leave food for you.'

"I heard Rosa whisper to him, 'The Double you?' and he said, 'Yes, shut up!' So I remembered that. Then she said, 'Sorry but I have to have the electricity and the gas turned off. But I'll leave the water on. I can't let you have a light, you see. Remember, it's all your own fault that you are here.' Then he went out of the room, but he poked his head back to say:

"'I hope the time lock works all right. But it's a bit old and rusty and maybe it won't. If not—'

"He shut the door and locked it, and that's the last I saw or heard of any human being. I tried to amuse myself with the books and papers, but when it got dark Sunday night and I had no light, I gave out. I cried myself to sleep.

"The hard days began. The solitude and silence were awful. And the thought of that rusty lock got on my nerves. Then one night there was a terrific thunder storm and I'm so afraid of thunder storms. And once I heard a mouse nibbling. And I'm terribly afraid of mice.

"Then one night I ate some tomato soup and it was spoiled or something, and I had ptomaine poisoning, or I thought I had. Oh, I was so sick! And that's about all, only the fright and the illness from the soup and the fear of that old lock nearly drove me insane.'

"And at last Wednesday came. I thought the day would never pass. I tried the lock [illegible] I didn't know at what hour it would be freed. And when it began to get dark [illegible] I fainted [illegible] I don't know how long [illegible]

[illegible]

When [illegible] Pennington was led away, [illegible] asked Stone, 'What gave you your first hint of Penn's guilt?'"

"The use of that word, gullery," Stone replied. "It's such an unusual word, yet I knew I'd heard it. Then I remembered it was in one of Pennington's earlier plays. So that started me off. Miss Wolycott had a complete set of his plays, and I verified it when I was there. I felt sure that hoax letter was merely to divert attention from the real abductor, and so it was Pennington. [illegible] very clever, but when I went down to New York, and found he had gone away without leaving his bank his address, and he had taken a lot of money with him, I began to think where he could have gone. He didn't get a passport so I knew he was still in this country, and I thought of a ranch as a fine hiding place. Then when I heard Miss Duane had mentioned the Double U, I knew just where to put my hands on him, and did."

"'We won't have such a dressy wedding,' Emily decreed later, 'but we do want an honored guest, who wasn't invited before, Mr. Fleming Stone.'"

And with his best bow, Stone accepted the invitation.

THE END.

Household Hints

To save trouble a piece of white American cloth can be tacked over the pastry board. After use, such a board merely needs to be well wiped over with a clean, damp cloth and it is ready to put away.

* * *

Mix together in a bottle a gill of methylated spirits and an ounce of isinglass. Place the uncorked bottle in a bowl of warm water, to dissolve. Shaking will help matters. When dissolved strain through muslin. This makes an invisible cement for broken glass. It should be given a considerable time in which to set, after which it will stand immersion in reasonably warm water.

Silver which is not in every day use should be wrapped in tissue paper and closely packed in a tin box with a tight-fitting cover. In this way it will be bright for a long time.

BECKY

will take the readers of the Boston Evening American behind the curtain in a gripping serial of her own dramatic climb to stardom. If it were not for the great love that inspired her—ah, let her tell it all to you in her own graphic and entertaining way!

'The Catspaw'; Stuart Gifford Explains Matters to Sylvia

Joyce Ackerman, society woman and wife of Vance Ackerman, rich broker, appeals to a mutual friend, Alexander Ladd, a successful lawyer, to help her in her battle with Margot Liggett, who has won her husband's affections. Ladd persuades Mrs. Ackerman to install Sylvia Bryant, his stenographer, in her home as her social secretary. Ackerman admires Sylvia's beauty and charm, and Stuart Gifford, his cousin, falls in love with her. He makes light of marriage and she refuses to let him kiss her. Mrs. Ackerman confesses to Sylvia that she hoped her presence would aid in keeping her husband away from Margot. Sylvia overhears Margot's divorced husband threaten to kill Ackerman who defies him and says he is going out with Margot that very night. To avert a tragedy Sylvia begs him to take her to dinner. She tells Mrs. Ackerman what she is doing. Ackerman takes her to a revue.

Afterward Ackerman is stabbed to death. Sylvia flees and appeals to Gifford for help.

Ladd tells Sylvia she is in a dangerous position and he will devote himself to the task of getting her out of it. Intimates that he cares for her.

He gives her back her old job in his office with increased pay and has a row with his conservative law partners.

Sylvia gets warning from an old friend that she may be suspected as Ackerman's slayer.

By ROBERT TERRY SHANNON
CHAPTER 41.

STUART GIFFORD would arrive in a few minutes, there was time enough to call up Alexander Ladd, an inescapable obligation. She reached him at his apartment.

"It is all over," he said. "Read tomorrow's newspaper for complete details. You are no longer in jeopardy."

Her voice was not quite steady. "Mr. Ladd—I—I"

"You will not be annoyed," he went on. "I'd like to have you report at the office for work tomorrow. Your old place is open, at an increased salary. Tell the head clerk that I said to put you back to work and give you a fifty per cent raise."

"I'll be glad to come back but I don't know that I deserve such a raise," Sylvia protested. "You've been so good to me already—"

"Nonsense! You tell the chief clerk what I said."

"But I couldn't tell him that, Mr. Ladd."

"All right. I'll phone him tomorrow myself. I won't be at the office for several days."

"Then I won't see you—"

"You'll see me when I get back." His voice had an independence of quality. "I won't be around for several days."

When Gifford arrived he affected her immediately with his impetuosity, a pressing forward of personality that was almost engulfing. Her mother had gone to bed but Gifford met her father; it was evident that each made an agreeable impression upon the other.

"I have heard my daughter speak of you," Sylvia's father said. "Having been through Mr. Ackerman's tragedy, more or less together, I imagine you are both a little [illegible] over the news of Liggett's [illegible]."

Gifford, splendidly, youthfully handsome, accorded the older man a perfectly poised deference.

"That's right, Mr. Bryant. We've all been under an awful strain—particularly Sylvia. She has been perfectly wonderful to stand up under the shock and the newspaper publicity. A wonderful girl, Mr. Bryant—poor Vance and Joyce adored her."

But this was, Sylvia discerned, a form of acting on the part of Gifford.

In the restaurant, later, she was able to relax, to feel a faint glow of pleasure in his company. He was now less obviously flattering than he had been and she liked him better.

"I have so much to tell you," he said. "Joyce is, of course, all torn up. She isn't seeing many people—but she might see you."

"I want to see her, too."

"She is sending a maid down tomorrow with your things and she asked me to see you and tell you how much she appreciated your loyalty—everything."

"I can imagine her state," Sylvia said.

"Frankly, while she is shocked I don't think she is utterly heartbroken," Gifford said. "Vance's [illegible]

[illegible]

He shook his head, smiled ruefully. "That's kind of you, Sylvia—but I [illegible]

[illegible] Maybe I am [illegible] materialism. Do you care to hear—would you let me tell you what it was?"

"You can suit yourself," Sylvia said.

"I suppose, perhaps, because I happened to be Vance's cousin that [illegible] I was [illegible]. I'm not—I'm poor. I'm a concrete engineer and I am connected with a company—I'm an officer—but I have almost no money. Did I ever mention my uncle John K. Lane, to you, Sylvia?"

"I don't think so—no, I'm sure you didn't."

"Well, I stand to inherit up to a half million from the old boy—he's seventy-five years old now. He thinks I'm a bit wild because he happens to be the hardest shelled old Puritan that ever lived in Boston. As things stand I am his heir—but he is a rampant nut on respectability and the conventional dignities. He has warned me that if I didn't walk an absolutely straight path he'd cut me off without even the proverbial shilling. Do you begin to see? With a bigot like Uncle John, what would happen to me—my future—if I got entangled however slightly in anything scandalous. If thinks drinking a cocktail is a major sin, can't you see what his reaction would be to a real scandal. And believe me—when the press gets the full details of Jack Liggett's reasons—it'll be plenty scandal—it'll rock the whole family. Can't you see, Sylvia, why I had to keep out of it—why my name didn't dare appear?"

In cold blood, perhaps, this was not much of an explanation, but Stuart Gifford put so much emotional intensity into his narrative that Sylvia felt herself being drawn [illegible]

ON "THE KEY TO A WOMAN'S HEART"

So long as WOMEN have HEARTS, men will be Able to TOUCH them.
Not ALL men, of course.
But ONE, if he
But FINDS the KEY,
Will be able to Enter therein
And the KEY most times
Is the SAME sympathy.
Some men FIND, when they Give SYMPATHY, the Heart of the WOMAN swings
Open like a DOOR.
OTHER men find it is Better to ask the
WOMAN for SYMPATHY.
So they make her feel
TENDER, compassionate,
Motherly, and [illegible]

And takes them [illegible]

THE GREATER VIRTUE

Bill's girl has wavy golden hair
And eyes of clearest blue,
Good clothes which she knows how to wear,
A graceful figure, too.

Complexion? Why, she kept the one
She used to take to school!
One glance from her and you're undone
And long to play the fool.

But, oh, the maiden of my choice
Has no such charms as these.
Her hair, her eyes, her form, her voice—
Let's change the subject, please.

And yet I'd not trade girls with Bill,
Which may seem strange to you,
For you don't know my sweetheart's skill
In making good home brew!

MEDBURY SAYS---

By JOHN P. MEDBURY.

IT is estimated that over 60,000,000 people in this country have broken the 18th Amendment. The rest of them have fractured it.

SEPTEMBER is the month when the average citizen takes the law into his own hands and the grapes into his basement.

IF a man wants to make a little wine it's nobody's business except the Anti-Saloon League's.

FERMENTATION is the law of nature and they're trying to repeal the law.

IT'S too bad we can't make wine out of bananas and throw the skins on Volstead's sidewalk.

HE'S a menace to every respectable cellar.

HE wanted to have a man arrested the other evening because his Adam's apple contained hard cider.

THIS takes nerve. His birthday gem must be a gall-stone.

IT'S a shame that these reformers' heads have to go to waste when we could use them for barrels.

THEIR skulls would make dandy casks and the wine would be much better if it was aged in the wood.

It should be easy to make the United States bone dry. We 34 Chambers Street Boston.
certainly have enough bones.

THEY grow under reformer's hats.

WE ought to get our ivory from the Anti-Saloon League and give the elephants a rest.

THIS is supposed to be a free country, but the American Legion had to go to France to get a drink.

IT'S wonderful to think that our soldiers fought for liberty, but it's too bad they had to make two trips.

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

WHEN a woman without a sense of humor marries a man without a sense of honor, the devil chuckles—and takes a holiday.

• • •

The road to success would be shorter for most men if it were not so full of tempting little sentimental detours.

No woman really understands a man until she has catered to his palate and guarded his digestion for a few years and learned that his love is not necessarily dead every time his emotions go into a state of coma.

• • •

There are books on how to "Eat and Grown Thin," "Drink and Be Sober," and "Live and Stay Young"; but life will never be perfect until somebody can write convincingly on how to "Marry and Remain a Bachelor."

Alas, it costs such a lot of money for a girl to be simply and fashionably unclothed, this season!

A man never realizes how hard the world is, until he bumps into the right girl, falls in love, and plunges into marriage.

From the flapper's viewpoint, a husband is just something that cramps your style, and that you have to be constantly explaining and apologizing for—like an umbrella or a Summer cold.

• • •

Some honeymoon couples leave most of their romance behind in the Summer hotel, along with the rice and their tooth brushes.

• • •

I had a little husband—
I thought him rather nice;
But all he ever gave me
Was a lot of free advice!

DON'T WASTE YOUR EFFORTS IN BLIND ALLEY

HOW long are you going to throw your best efforts up a blind alley?

How long are you going to try to give folk what they don't want and won't use, perhaps can't comprehend?

It is commendable that you desire to work hard.

You are industrious and thorough in what you do.

But are you getting anywhere with it all?

Is it that you yourself enjoy what you are devoting your life to furthering, or is it that you really are getting somewhere in the cause you espoused?

Is it a matter of principle with you that you give without knowing or caring where it all leads?

Don't be foolish.

When you find that you are not making a dent in the surface of things, why not take up another point of contact for your efforts?

Don't waste yourself. Get results, or know why not.

FAMOUS COMPOSERS

By COZETTE DOUGLAS

HAD Bizet been granted a longer life, one can easily imagine what marvels of musical composition he would probably have given to a world already enriched by his magnificent "Carmen" and the wondrously lovely melodies of "L'Arlesienne."

Alexandre Cesar Leopold Bizet, nicknamed Georges, was born at Bougival, near Paris, on October 25, 1838. His aptitude for music was a more of less natural gift, inasmuch as his father was a singing teacher. Displaying an extraordinary musical ability at an early age, he was sent to the Paris Conservatoire, where he studied under Ha'evy. In 1857 he won the coveted Grand Prix de Rome, and at the same time, was awarded the prize which had been offered by Offenbach for the best operetta.

After spending three years in Rome, Bizet returned to Paris, where he speedily gained a reputation for himself as a pianist.

In 1863 his first opera, "The Pearl Fishers," was produced, but did not prove very popular. However, this opera served its purpose, for the lovely melodies attracted wide attention and controversy.

Two years later Bizet married the daughter of his old instructor Halevy. She proved a true helpmate in every sense of the word, for she nursed his ambition, and encouraged him through his many disappointments. Her joy at his ultimate success with "Carmen" can readily be imagined, even though it was tempered with grief at his untimely death two months after the initial productions.

Even during his short life of thirty-seven years, Bizet was recognized as a composer of no small note, although like most of the famous operatic composers, his fame rests on but two compositions—"Carmen" and "L'Arlesienne." He had remarkable powers for sight reading of orchestral scores, and although he possessed marvelous originality, his success with "Carmen" was a surprise to the musicians of his time.

There are several other operas to Bizet's credit, but none of them has survived. He also composed an overture, two movements of a symphony and several songs, but his fame was at first rather that of a remarkable pianist, than a composer.

"Carmen" at the time of its production was hailed as the most melodic creation since Gounod's "Faust" and rightly placed the composer in the front rank of composers, although his position there rests on the fame of this single composition.

Bizet was stricken suddenly with a heart attack and died on June 3, 1875.

TWO HOMES MADE HAPPY

By Women Who Used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I think it is the most wonderful medicine I ever tried," is the statement made by Mrs. Goldie Shoup of St. Joseph, Illinois. She declares that after taking the Compound she is in better health than before.

Mrs. J. Storms of 29 Lane Street, Paterson, N. J., writes: "I can not speak too highly of your medicine and I recommend it to all my friends."

These statements were taken from two enthusiastic letters which tell of the help that has been received from using the Vegetable Compound. Both Mrs. Shoup and Mrs. Storms were in a run-down condition which caused them much unhappiness. When women are suffering from lack of strength and from weakness, their own life and that of their family is affected. When they feel well and strong and are able to do their housework easily, happy homes are the result.

Are you on the Sunlit Road to Better Health?

Radio Dialog

By C. WILLIAM RADOS

RADIO show week is fast approaching. This year Mechanics Hall will house an added attraction, the Aero Show. Acts, miniature broadcasting, portable radio, amateur radio code machines, famous personalities of the air and stage will all be there to entertain the customers.

• • •

At the combined radio and aero show exhibitors will display their models for the coming season.

The trend is decidedly towards the use of electrically driven radios wherever possible. However, do not read the handwriting on the wall incorrectly.

Nearsighted folks with astigmatism might imagine that the battery people will go to the wall. Instead they will carry money to the banks for many years to come. Did gas companies go out of business when mazdas came in?

• • •

Large sections of the world have no electricity.

Down in Washington there is much shaking of heads and doubling of fists over the actions of the Radio Commissary. Ever since the Radio Board has been invented it has tried to make everyone in radio happy. Now that it has finished the job the radio experts agree that a long and hopeless Winter is ahead of us.

• • •

They predict that whistles and groans will accompany distant reception. Oliver Aspirin says if he leaves the window open again his radio reception will be accompanied with sneezes and a running nose and coughs.

• • •

The main trouble say these experts, is that too many stations are more than enough. They have discussed all sorts of remedies. Put them on part time, on different kilocycles, in different zones, and everything except send them back to Europe. Five years immigration was cut off. Immediately radio sprang up. All who are interested can look up the facts.

We hope the Radio Commissary settles the matter.

Selfishly Self-Sufficient the newest novelty coatings decide that they will invite no competitive attraction in the lining fabrics, but that the coats into which they are made shall be self-lined. These soft woolens, are very attractive when used in this double capacity. Most of the coats are of the straight line type.

Make Candy without cooking

DID you know that by using Standard Sweetened Condensed Milk you can make delicious candies without any real cooking? Here are two popular recipes that call for this fine milk. (It is really two ingredients in one—a rich, smooth blend of full-cream country milk and finest sugar.)

Coconut Creams

¼ cup Standard Sweetened Condensed Milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 cups confectioner's sugar
1 cup coconut

To the condensed milk add the vanilla. Stir in two cups of the sugar, then add the coconut and sugar enough to stiffen to the desired consistency. Drop by spoonfuls onto a waxed paper or oiled pan

Chocolate Nut Truffles

2 squares unsweetened chocolate
½ cup Standard Sweetened Condensed Milk
1½ cups confectioner's sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup English walnuts

Melt the chocolate over hot water. Add ½ cup of condensed milk and stir over hot water for about one minute until it thickens. Remove from the stove; add vanilla and sugar; stir smooth and add the nuts. Drop onto paper or an oiled pan and allow to cool

Standard Sweetened Condensed Milk is splendid for desserts, too—and for icings, hot breads, salad dressings, etc. Get it from your grocer today. And use it in coffee, as well as in cooking. It gives true cream-and-sugar richness—at one-half the cost! And it keeps fresh for days after the can is opened—even without ice!

British Set Face Against Buying Foreign Products

By B. C. FORBES.

B. C. Forbes

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—I saw only two intoxicated persons in France. They were both Americans, a couple who tried to indulge in boisterous cutting-up in a Parisian cafe one evening. They were promptly squelched by the management.

We think smoking is widely prevalent among women in this country. But it seemed to me that far more women, and particularly very young girls, were smoking in Britain than you ever see here. There they smoke on the street, in theatres, everywhere. When I was a boy the only smoking done by women took the form of old, nicotine-stained clay pipes constantly in the mouths of very old women, always called "Grannie" This or That. No young or middle-aged women ever touched tobacco.

Often when I handed a working-class man a cigar I noticed that he didn't light it, but put it carefully into his pocket. Becoming curious, I asked why. The answer nearly always was the same—"I want to keep it for Sunday afternoon, when I go out walking." One old farmer, when I offered him a light, refused, with the explanation, "The cattle show is tomorrow—and I'll smoke it in front of all my friends."

Pipes and cigarettes are the favorites abroad. I actually found tobacco shops that didn't sell cigars. They are regarded as far too expensive by ordinary folks.

There are heroes and heroines in every walk of life. When I went to call on an old friend, a woman, I was told that she had died—died under heroic circumstances. She had consecrated her life to taking care of her aged mother. For years she herself had been sickly, but she never once complained. Not until the doctor announced that she would die in a week or two was it revealed that years before she had been told definitely that she was afflicted with an incurable and bound-to-be fatal cancer. But she kept the secret absolutely to herself to prevent her mother from worrying.

One of the most cheerful friends I called upon was an elderly woman, knotted and twisted shockingly by rheumatism, who had not been able to move out of her tiny room in a poorhouse (Parish Home) for four years. They told me that while she was struggling to be cured, she was most fretful and impatient, but that the moment the doctors informed her that they could do no more for her, and that she would be stricken permanently, she changed her whole attitude toward life. She had fewer wrinkles on her face than any woman of her age I saw—she had the benign expression you often see on elderly nuns.

I had one pointed illustration of the attitude of most British business men toward America and other foreign countries. I asked a baker in a rural part of Scotland to make me the kind of shortbread he used to make forty years ago. When I called for it he explained that it wasn't exactly what it should be, because he should have used Danish butter. "But, of course," he added, "I wouldn't think of buying one pound of Danish butter. We won't use anything but British butter or butter from the Colonies. We refuse to buy anything from foreigners."

"Does that go for America, too?" I asked.

"You bet it does" he exclaimed tremendously emphatically.

In what I was told was the largest grocery store in London, there were big signs in different departments, reading "Nothing But British Products Here," or "All British or Colonial Products Here," or "Keep Trade Within the Empire."

In talking with small business men, I found that this sentiment was intense. The British people feel that their back is to the wall that they are very sorely pressed but they are determined to stick closely together to wage battle against the rest of the world.

* * *

Americans sometimes complain about the tipping system here. This country is in the kindergarten class contrasted with the graduates in the art all over Europe. Departing from a hotel on the Continent is an adventure.

HOME BUILDING ON THE WANE, SAYS BABSON

By FRANK H. MELOON, Financial Editor

Roger W. Babson

Allen E. Beals (Copyright by Underwood & Underwood)

Roger W. Babson, the well-known financial authority in his address today at the 14th Annual Business Conference at Babson Park, Wellesley, takes up the subject of building. "The total value of contracts actually awarded is running about the same as a year ago (due mainly to the fact that these include public works and utilities construction) but home building is on the wane," says Mr. Babson.

* * *

It is only in comparatively recent months that home building has figured very largely in the national totals of new construction. One national authority declares there is still a pressing need for new homes, especially those of moderate prices. Some builders in Greater Boston are disposing of them as fast as they can build, but these are the builders whose work is known to be not of the slipshod variety. The public is becoming more discriminating, both here and elsewhere. Allen E. Beals, building authority, has pointed this out, and the Cape Cod Chamber of Commerce was quoted somewhat to the same effect in this column yesterday.

It is easier to raze than to raise a good house overnight, as demolition experts, architects and contractors will tell you. So the approach of the season of what country correspondents used to refer to as "inclement weather" can be regarded as a factor in slowing down home building around this time of the year. Another important factor, bankers tell me, is the preference a good many people have for keeping up instalment payments on automobiles rather than on homes. This brings a certain number of homes into the market through the banks and elsewhere, and is a factor that has possibly marked seasonal variations if they could be charted, as some day they are likely to be, with Mr. Babson's statistical organization "on the job."

* * *

Chicago Federal Reserve Bank cut its rediscount rate to 3½ per cent. at "suggestion" of the Federal Reserve Board at Washington. The Chicago officials did not see fit to follow the time-honored custom of inaugurating the new rate and then receiving the Washington sanction. There has followed some discussion as to the power of the Washington board to enforce its wishes, and the board at the national capital is said to be itself divided on this question. The outstanding fact is that the Chicago board did not see fit to carry on a contest. Whether any other board will later prove pugnacious remains to be seen.

* * *

The Chicago cut merely brings the rate there to the Boston level. I have been told that money has been lending in Chicago at a lower rate than in Boston. As discount rates ar "subject to review and determination" by the Washington board, it seems to me likely the court would decide it could rescind a previous "review and determination" and thus establish whatever rate it might choose.

* * *

Boston Federal Reserve Bank leaders do not wish to enter into the discussion. This could be easily interpreted as meaning they are disposed to accept the supremacy of the Washington board.

"Big finance" moves fast. Often it moves more rapidly than our still more or less antiquated "legal" machinery. This is called to mind by the fact that Boston & Maine stockholders at their special meeting O. K'd. issuance of $30,942,000 first mortgage 5 per cent. bonds, for the purpose of retiring $29,298,000 of 6 per cent. bonds, formerly owned by United States government, and $1,644,000 5 per cent bonds formerly held by the public. Bankers had already sold the bonds at 93¼, subject to stockholder approval and also subject to approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission which is still to come.

Those who for years have been praying for a better market for copper shares see cheer ahead. The recent increase in export shipments of copper effected by the growth of European consumption of the product for industrial rehabilitation is resulting in a recovery of the industry, the Brookmire Economic Service, Inc., reports. Copper consumption tends to rise rapidly after a prolonged period of active business when large additions are made to plant capacity, and the logical outcome of the present high rate of business activity would be a gain in consumption. While the domestic stock of refined copper on August 1 was about 209,000,000 pounds, a figure 80,000,000 pounds over a year ago, there has been a reduction of stocks abroad. In addition this figure is less than one-third of the total reached in 1921, high cost producers have been gradually falling, and mine production during July was lower than in any month in almost three years.

ILLINOIS Central handled 44,935 revenue freight cars in first seven days of September, against 45,013 in same period of 1926.

You "Wear" Well in Wool

The years are kind to men who wear wool. There is health, comfort and beauty, too, in all-wool clothing. The safest way to select all-wool cloth is to look for the trade mark of the American Woolen Company. It now appears on every yard of all-wool Serge, Cheviot, Unfinished Worsted, Merchants' Gray and a selected variety of stripes in the colors and weaves you like so well for business and general wear.

You can get them from your tailor or clothier.

in cotton production and prices "stands as a memorial to the splendid resiliency of our business system."

So it does. But the poor cotton farmer has to play the part of shock absorber in that resiliency.

For the third quarter of 1927 the "Standard Oil Group" will pay out $47,493,061 in cash dividends. In the first nine months of the year "the group" will have paid out $158,000,000. That group consists of a flourishing little family of octopuses, which appeared on the scene when the big Standard Oil octopus was chopped into little bits by an infuriated comic opera government.

The little octopuses are worth at least five times as much as their mamma was ever worth—chopping up ability doesn't seem to hurt it.

Grover Whalen, of New York, receives through Monsieur Bokanowski, member of the French cabinet, the cross of the Legion of Honor. Mr. Whalen deserves an honor of which any man might be proud, and the whole country will be glad with him. He has done as much as any man to create in the minds of distinguished foreigners the best possible impression of American character and American hospitality.

Mr. Rodman Wanamaker, who took Mr. Grover Whalen away from the city administration and into his own organization, possesses a quality of greatest value to men of large affairs. He recognizes ability, and knows how to ENCOURAGE it.

Good news from Brock and Schlee, flying around the world in "The Pride of Detroit." Instead of making their landing as planned in Siam, where landings are difficult, they simply skipped that country and flew on to the coast of China. Another monsoon had bothered them a little. Their next "hop" will be from Shanghai to Tokio, a little more than 1,000 miles.

Germany has signed the World Court arbitration pact, binding Germans to accept compulsory arbitration in case of trouble.

In accepting a drastic agreement that no other great power has yet signed, Herr Stresemann says the German people are "definitely committed to a policy of entente and peace." The Germans mean it; they have had enough war. If the other nations of Europe mean it, they could easily end their troubles and their fears, and without their World Court telling the United States what it ought to do.

$100.00 in Cash Prizes

for a Letter on the Subject:

How I profited by READING an Evening American or Sunday Advertiser CLASSIFIED AD.

LIST OF PRIZES

First Prize	$25.00
Second Prize	15.00
Third Prize	10.00
Five Prizes, each	5.00
Five Prizes, each	3.00
Ten Prizes, each	1.00

Here's all you have to do:

If, through reading an Evening American or Sunday Advertiser Classified Ad, you have found a better position which has given you a new interest in life—found new happiness and independence by buying a home—secured a pet which has saved someone's life—recovered or restored to others precious lost articles—or perhaps found a business opportunity that changed your whole course in life—write about it.

Write on one side of a sheet of paper, preferably in ink, in about 100 words, the story of how the reading of an Evening American or Sunday Advertiser Classified Ad resulted in a profitable experience for you.

Don't worry about your composition. Just give facts, names and dates. Letters will be judged on the basis of originality, news value and the importance a Classified Ad played in your life.

Even a post card may be large enough for your purpose. Mail your story to
